U.S. Court To Reopen 12 Cases

Discrimination, Wire Tapping, Among Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ordered Monday reargument of 12 cases it already has heard —an unusual number in one decision day.

The action stemed from the illness that sidelined Justice Charles E. Whittaker last month and led to his retirement last week.

The court will have its full, tie-breaking total of nine judges again when Whittaker's successor is confirmed by the Senate. President Kennedy has nominated Byron R. White, 44-year-old deputy attorney general, to the job.

Among a huge batch of orders, the court let stand a decision killing a state antidiscrimination law that applied only to owners of publicly financed housing.

The decision, which provided no reasons, applies specifically to Washington State but has a bearing on several other states with similar laws. The ruling did not touch on the general question of antidiscrimination laws that apply to all homeowners.

Citizenship Question

One of the reargruments ordered is on the question of whether Congress has the power to strip citizenship from native Americans who leave the country to avoid military service in wartime.

The other cases includes such questions as: 1. The tax deductibility of legal expenses in divorce proceedings, 2. laws affecting the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Virginia and Florida, 3. the conliam Presser on charges of obstructing the work of the Senate's rackets investigating committee.

Among other decisions, the court refused to rule on the validity of police use of an electronic listening device, lowered into an apartment building airshaft, to gather information on lottery operations. The conviction of five men in Jacksonville, Fla. on lottery charges was thus allowed to stand.

The antidiscrimination ruling involved a Washington State law that makes it unfair practice for the owner of publicly assisted housing to refuse to sell, rent or lease to any person because of race, color, creed or national origin.

Ruling Challenged

Coast Guard Cmdr. John O'Meara, a white homeowner in Seattle, asked $18,000 for a house he had purchased with a private loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration in 1955. Robert L. Jones, a Negro, offered to buy the house, but O'Meara refused to sell to him. When the State Board against Discrimination ordered O'Meara to accept Jones' $18,000 offer, O'Meara took the case to court.

The Washington State Supreme Court, agreeing with O'Meara that the Washington law is unconstitutional, declared: "This act would prohibit Cmdr. O'Meara from doing what his neighbors are at perfect liberty to do.

"It gives those who have conventional mortgages, or no mortgages, and those who are buying upon contract, special privileges and immunities which are not accorded to him. The classification is arbitrary and capricious and there is no reasonable relation to the evil which is sought to be eliminated."

APPOINTED — Nicholas Katzenbach was named yesterday by President Kennedy, to the post of Deputy Attorney General,, succeeding Byron R. White who has been named an associate judge of the Supreme Court. Katzenbach, 40, is a native of Philadelphia, Pa. He will fill the No. 2 spot in the U.S. Department of Justice. (AP Photofax)

Senators Tee Off On U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate turned a critical eye on the United Nations Monday before voting on a multimillion-dollar loan to help the world organization out of a financial bind.

Approval of the bipartisan compromise loan proposal was expected by overwhelming vote, but not before a few thousand words are delivered on the way the United Nations is conducted. Although the pending legislation is labeled a compromise, it actually would give President Kennedy what he asked.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, led off by releasing the text of a speech in which he said there is a growing concern with the trend in the evolution of the United Nations organization and the U.S. position in it.

Trivial Politics

The General Assembly's value as a forum for thunder on great issues is fading, Mansfield said, and it is becoming increasingly a market place for a trading of votes and the transmission of trivial politics on a vast and international scale.

And as for the Security Council, Mansfield said that due to Soviet vetoes the Security Council has

Liz And Eddie To Get Divorce

NEW YORK (AP)—An attorney for Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher said Monday night they have agreed to part and seek a divorce.

A spokesman for the attorney, Louis Nizer, made the formal announcement of the breakup after weeks of rumors that the marriage was going on the rocks while romance blossomed between the actress and her current costar, Richard Burton.

The statement from Nizer, which came after Miss Taylor had conferred with him by transatlantic telephone from Rome, said simply:

"Elizabeth and Eddie Fisher announce that they have mutually agreed to part. Divorce proceedings will be instituted soon."

Nizer's office indicated there would be no further amplification of the statement Monday night.

Shipping Strike Is Causing Food Shortages In Hawaii

640,000 Island Residents Face Critical Problem

HONOLULU (AP) — Island housewives have become edgy as food supplies begin to vanish from market shelves, depleted by a shipping strike now in its third week.

President Kennedy has been told that Hawaii's construction and small business condition is desperate because of shrinking inventories and high operating costs.

"You cannot say we are starving," said an executive of Foodland Supermarkets, one of the largest food chains in Hawaii. "But nothing is being replaced. The situation is critical."

He said rice was about gone from the shelves, while canned milk, widely used in infant formulas, is being rationed 12 cans to a customer.

"All our stocks of mainland vegetables are pretty well dwindled," he said.

Kauai Island reported rice, flour and canned milk gone from the shelves of all large food stores. Hawaii ran out of these items last week.

The Dole Corp., pineapple canner, said it had given up space for 1,000 tons of tinplate on an East Coast freighter to make room for emergency grain supplies for island livestock.

Eight Matson Navigation Co. ships are tied up in Honolulu harbor.

Five, dead in the water and being picketed, are loaded with more than 30,000 tons of canned milk, feeds, flour, rice, household goods, general grocery items, candy, lumber, liquor, fertilizer and miscellaneous goods.

Picket lines of the striking unions — the Sailors Union of the Pacific, the Marine Cooks and Stewards Union and the Pacific Coast Marine Firemen's Association—are being observed by stevedores of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

But the lines were scheduled to part Tuesday at Pier 14 to permit longshoremen to unload 370 tons of flour under federal court order.

A food industry executive said 370 tons of flour was only a two-week supply for Honolulu bakeries.

Matson brings in 80 to 90 per cent of all supplies used in the islands. Shipments from the West Coast run about 27,000 tons a week —about one-third food. Three Matson ships call regularly each week.

Indonesian Guerrillas Hit Island

Patrols Attack At Three Points In Northwest

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia reported Monday its guerrillas have landed at three points in West New Guinea. Government sources predicted that, under U. S. pressure talks soon will be resumed with the Netherlands in the island dispute.

Defense Minister Abdul Haris Nasution, reporting the guerrilla landings, asserted the navy and air force are patrolling along the beaches.

He said the infiltrators went ashore at the oil port of Sorong on the northwest tip of New Guinea; at Fakfak, on the southwest coast; and at Kaimana in the south. The Dutch have acknowledged landings in all these areas except Sorong but said the infiltrators are being wiped out.

Sorong is 30 miles across Dampier Strait from the island of Waigeo, where the Dutch said some infiltrators landed.

Charge Bad Faith

Speaking to a meeting of university students at Bandung, Nasution accused the Dutch of bad faith in the negotiations in Washington which were suspended last week.

The session was called at Washington's urging after Indonesia threatened to use force to back up its claim to West New Guinea.

Sources close to Indonesian President Sukarno said he will agree to resume negotiations because of international pressure and because he is impressed by President Kennedy's personal interest in the dispute.

Claim In Dispute

But these sources made clear there would be no weakening of Sukarno's insistence that administration of West New Guinea be turned over to Indonesia. The Dutch deny Indonesia's claim that West New Guinea is part of Indonesia.

In Hollandia, West New Guinea, native Papuans gave a big welcome to U.N. observers who arrived to find out whether the natives want Indonesian rule or independence.

The Dutch have been preparing the Papuans for self-rule and the natives have a council and their own political parties. Hundreds of Papuans greeted the U.N. observers from two African nations, Upper Volta and Dahomey.

5 Make Escape At San Quentin

It was the prison's first wall-scaling escape in 19 years.

The five went over unseen in early morning darkness near a guard tower they knew was not manned after midnight. All worked a midnight-to-8 a.m. shift in the prison's textile mill.

Warden Fred Dickson said it was presumed the fugitives split up and were hiding in the wooded, hilly region surrounding the prison on the shore of San Francisco Bay.

Search Wooded Area

A posse of 100 officers concentrated their hunt in the wooded hills. But roadblock watch also was kept on approaches to the Golden Gate and Richmond-San Rafael bridges. Dickson issued a warning to motorists not to pick up hitchhikers.

The five fugitives, all assigned as minimum security convicts to jobs in the textile mill outside the prison's inner wall, are:

John L. Rucker, 31, committed for grand theft.

James DuBois, 28, committeed for robbery.

J. F. Spatola, 31, sentenced for robbery.

G. C. Roark, 27, sentenced for burglary and parole violation.

All were accounted for at a routine 3 a.m. check. They were missing at 3:30 a.m.

Dickson said investigation disclosed they had stolen two screw drivers used on the mill looms and used these to break into a storage room where they grabbed the ladder.

It was not yet established how the men had obtained the rope they used to climb down outside the wall.

To Abolish Shift

Two civil service foremen were in charge of the shift of 50 prisoners working on the textile mill's midnight shift.

Walter Dunbar, state corrections director, announced the mill's midnight shift would be abolished immediately. Round-the-clock operation had been employed because of a supply short-

Ecuador Army Demands Break With Castro

The military chiefs warned that they would accept nothing less than a break of relations with Cuba. This ruled out Arosemena's plan for a plebiscite to decide on the question of relations with Castro. Earlier, the Supreme Electoral Tribunal said it would not supervise such a plebiscite because it lacks jurisdiction. Ecuador's leftist parties had assailed Arosemena's plebiscite plan as unconstitutional.

Poll Tax Bill Cleared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax cleared its first hurdle in the House Monday.

Milk Shortage

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —Just over a bread shortage, Rio de Janeiro now faces a milk shortage. Plans are under way to ration milk if dairymen go through with a threatened lockout in an effort to force the government to permit a price increase.

Sixth Fleet Enters Beirut

Syria Troubled With Rebellion

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria's ruling junta offered President Gamal Abdel Nasser an olive branch Monday after northern army officers announced a rebellion and demanded reunion with the Arab Republic.

The junta, which led Syria out of the U.A.R. Sept. 28, ignored rebel broadcasts from Aleppo claiming control of northern Syria, threatened stiff punishment for troublemakers and closed land and sea frontiers.

But the same military leaders who last September accused Nasser of tyranny and of converting Syria into a prison put out a statement over the radio in the Syrian capital of Damascus.

"The high command of the armed forces explained that it believes in unity with all liberated Arab countries, and first of all with Egypt, provided this unity is established on a genuine basis and with conditions guaranteeing the dignity of this country and its entity and avoiding the mistakes of the past—on the condition that these conditions are decided in a popular free referendum," it said.

With all the conditions, the offer seemed to amount to a proposal that Syria, Egypt and possibly other Arab states organize a federation, rather than a unified republic as in the old U.A.R.

It also seemed to be aimed at placating the rebellious officers in northern Syria.

The broadcast of an army revolt came after clashes Sunday between troops and demonstrators either supporting Nasser or the civilian regime the junta set up last year and which toppled last Wednesday.

A broadcast from Aleppo, Syria's second largest city, said a free officers command had rebelled against the junta, declared martial law in northern and eastern Syria.

"All authorities in the two areas are under orders of the command," the broadcast said.

It proposed to purge the junta and "to work to achieve the hope of the Syrian people in restoring unity between the two regions of the U.A.R. on a solid basis."

Kennedys Plan Easter Egg Roll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Kennedy will hold the annual Easter egg roll for Washington area children on Monday April 23.

Thousands of children are expected to swarm over the south lawn of the White House with their Easter baskets from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., on the Monday after Easter.

Children 12 years and under will be permitted to attend the Easter egg roll if they are accompanied by an adult.

71 Overcome By Chlorine In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Seventy-one persons were overcome Monday by chlorine gas that poured from a broken valve into the ventilating system of the Stardust Hotel.

A hosiptal official said many of those treated were suffering more from fright than gas.

"A lot of it was hysteria," the spokesman said.

Oxygen was administered at the hotel for those not so seriously affected. Most seriously hit were employes.

Several hundred persons were evacuated from the hotel when the gas used in treating swimming pool water seeped into the kitchen and one of the hotel's three restaurants.

Officials at Sunrise Hospital said six persons were admitted but were in satisfactory condition. The others were treated and released.

Workmen who had been repairing the gas valve tried for 15 minutes—dashing one at a time back into the room holding their breath—before they could stop the leak.

Firemen used ventilating machines to blow the gas out of the hotel and allow the kitchen and restaurant to reopen.

Brazil Seizes Canadian-Owned Telephone Company

As federal troops were alerted to back up the government's action if necessary, Lacerda declared the federal action was unconstitutional and he would take the issue to court.

Col. Almeria de Castro Neves, head of the National Security Council, accused Lacerda of trying to expropriate the company to "prejudice the effects of the visit of President Joao Goulart to the United States."

Lacerda said he also was stepping in because he did not want to see U.S. Alliance for Progress funds used to pay off foreign owners of telephone companies.

Congress Comes To Aid Of Birds, Bees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now that April's here, the House rallied Monday to the aid of the birds and the bees.

Specifically, golden eagles and honeybees. Not to slight the creatures of the sea, it passed a couple of bills for oysters as well.

Honeybees—A bill to forbid importation of all honeybees, except for experimental purposes. The aim is to bar a microsopic creature called the acarine mite, from the isle of Wight. This tiny pest played hob with honeybees practically everywhere except in the United States.

Golden Eagles—A bill to give these big birds the same blanket protection now enjoyed by the bald eagle. It would help the national bird, too, because the trouble with golden eagles is they look just like bald eagles until they are four years old. Some states allow hunting of golden eagles, and because of the close resemblance many bald eagles have been shot. Furthermore, the golden eagles are getting pretty scarce.

Oysters—Two things have been bothering oysters lately, especially in Chesapeake Bay and along the Atlantic Coast: 1. A virus that kills them, and 2. The recent huge coastal storm that buried a lot of them under tons of sand.

One of the bills would set up a federal program to supply states with oysters resistant to the virus disease. This would cost about $300,000 a year. The other would provide loans to oyster growers to tide them over the damage caused by the big storm.

The bill will now go to the Senate.

Macmillan Breaks Political Tradition

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan broke British political tradition Monday and went electioneering in behalf of a struggling Conservative in the industrial north of England.

It was an act of political daring since Macmillan is risking a hard blow to his prestige by intervening personally in a special parliamentary election in Stockton on Tees.

But he made it known he intends to try and turn what looks like a lost cause into victory for his hard-pressed Conservative party. Tory morale is at low ebb after a series of defeats in special parliamentary elections.

By tradition, British prime ministers never go campaigning in these local contests to fill vacant seats in the House of Commons—but Macmillan didn't hesitate to break the rules. He has special links with Stockton, having represented it in Commons for 20 years.

Macmillan strolled through the bustling main street, waving to passers-by and enjoying a spot of backchat with a small but amiable crowd. He beamed when someone shouted: "Good old Mac!"

The opposition Labor party won the Stockton seat in 1959 over the Conservatives in a two-way fight. This time the resurgent Liberal party—bubbling with confidence after shock wins over the Tories in two recent special elections—has man in the field. The election on Thursday was made necessary by the resignation of the Laborite incumbent.

The Liberal candidate is John Mulholland, 28. William Rodgers, 30, carries the flag of the Labor party and claims he will have a runaway victory. Macmillan is campaigning in behalf of Gerald Coles, 28.

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Ecuador's military chiefs Monday increased pressure on President Carlos Arosemena to break relations with Fidel Castro's Cuba and highly placed sources said the rupture is near.

The military chiefs warned that they would accept nothing less than a break of relations with Cuba. This ruled out Arosemena's plan for a plebiscite to decide on the question of relations with Castro. Earlier, the Supreme Electoral Tribunal said it would not supervise such a plebiscite because it lacks jurisdiction. Ecuador's leftist parties had assailed Arosemena's plebiscite plan as unconstitutional.

Milk Shortage

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —Just over a bread shortage, Rio de Janeiro now faces a milk shortage. Plans are under way to ration milk if dairymen go through with a threatened lockout in an effort to force the government to permit a price increase.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Several units of the American 6th Fleet including the aircraft carrier Saratoga steamed into Beirut harbor Monday for a goodwill visit.

Kennedys Plan Easter Egg Roll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Kennedy will hold the annual Easter egg roll for Washington area children on Monday April 23.

Thousands of children are expected to swarm over the south lawn of the White House with their Easter baskets from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., on the Monday after Easter.

Children 12 years and under will be permitted to attend the Easter egg roll if they are accompanied by an adult.

Syria Troubled With Rebellion

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria's ruling junta offered President Gamal Abdel Nasser an olive branch Monday after northern army officers announced a rebellion and demanded reunion with the Arab Republic.

The junta, which led Syria out of the U.A.R. Sept. 28, ignored rebel broadcasts from Aleppo claiming control of northern Syria, threatened stiff punishment for troublemakers and closed land and sea frontiers.

But the same military leaders who last September accused Nasser of tyranny and of converting Syria into a prison put out a statement over the radio in the Syrian capital of Damascus.

"The high command of the armed forces explained that it believes in unity with all liberated Arab countries, and first of all with Egypt, provided this unity is established on a genuine basis and with conditions guaranteeing the dignity of this country and its entity and avoiding the mistakes of the past—on the condition that these conditions are decided in a popular free referendum," it said.

With all the conditions, the offer seemed to amount to a proposal that Syria, Egypt and possibly other Arab states organize a federation, rather than a unified republic as in the old U.A.R.

It also seemed to be aimed at placating the rebellious officers in northern Syria.

The broadcast of an army revolt came after clashes Sunday between troops and demonstrators either supporting Nasser or the civilian regime the junta set up last year and which toppled last Wednesday.

A broadcast from Aleppo, Syria's second largest city, said a free officers command had rebelled against the junta, declared martial law in northern and eastern Syria.

"All authorities in the two areas are under orders of the command," the broadcast said.

It proposed to purge the junta and "to work to achieve the hope of the Syrian people in restoring unity between the two regions of the U.A.R. on a solid basis."

71 Overcome By Chlorine In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Seventy-one persons were overcome Monday by chlorine gas that poured from a broken valve into the ventilating system of the Stardust Hotel.

A hospital official said many of those treated were suffering more from fright than gas.

"A lot of it was hysteria," the spokesman said.

Oxygen was administered at the hotel for those not so seriously affected. Most seriously hit were employes.

Several hundred persons were evacuated from the hotel when the gas used in treating swimming pool water seeped into the kitchen and one of the hotel's three restaurants.

Officials at Sunrise Hospital said six persons were admitted but were in satisfactory condition. The others were treated and released.

Workmen who had been repairing the gas valve tried for 15 minutes—dashing one at a time back into the room holding their breath—before they could stop the leak.

Firemen used ventilating machines to blow the gas out of the hotel and allow the kitchen and restaurant to reopen.

Brazil Seizes Canadian-Owned Telephone Company

As federal troops were alerted to back up the government's action if necessary, Lacerda declared the federal action was unconstitutional and he would take the issue to court.

Col. Almeria de Castro Neves, head of the National Security Council, accused Lacerda of trying to expropriate the company to "prejudice the effects of the visit of President Joao Goulart to the United States."

Lacerda said he also was stepping in because he did not want to see U.S. Alliance for Progress funds used to pay off foreign owners of telephone companies.

Congress Comes To Aid Of Birds, Bees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now that April's here, the House rallied Monday to the aid of the birds and the bees.

Specifically, golden eagles and honeybees. Not to slight the creatures of the sea, it passed a couple of bills for oysters as well.

Honeybees—A bill to forbid importation of all honeybees, except for experimental purposes. The aim is to bar a microsopic creature called the acarine mite, from the isle of Wight. This tiny pest played hob with honeybees practically everywhere except in the United States.

Golden Eagles—A bill to give these big birds the same blanket protection now enjoyed by the bald eagle. It would help the national bird, too, because the trouble with golden eagles is they look just like bald eagles until they are four years old. Some states allow hunting of golden eagles, and because of the close resemblance many bald eagles have been shot. Furthermore, the golden eagles are getting pretty scarce.

Oysters—Two things have been bothering oysters lately, especially in Chesapeake Bay and along the Atlantic Coast: 1. A virus that kills them, and 2. The recent huge coastal storm that buried a lot of them under tons of sand.

One of the bills would set up a federal program to supply states with oysters resistant to the virus disease. This would cost about $300,000 a year. The other would provide loans to oyster growers to tide them over the damage caused by the big storm.

The bill will now go to the Senate.

Macmillan Breaks Political Tradition

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan broke British political tradition Monday and went electioneering in behalf of a struggling Conservative in the industrial north of England.

It was an act of political daring since Macmillan is risking a hard blow to his prestige by intervening personally in a special parliamentary election in Stockton on Tees.

But he made it known he intends to try and turn what looks like a lost cause into victory for his hard-pressed Conservative party. Tory morale is at low ebb after a series of defeats in special parliamentary elections.

By tradition, British prime ministers never go campaigning in these local contests to fill vacant seats in the House of Commons—but Macmillan didn't hesitate to break the rules. He has special links with Stockton, having represented it in Commons for 20 years.

Macmillan strolled through the bustling main street, waving to passers-by and enjoying a spot of backchat with a small but amiable crowd. He beamed when someone shouted: "Good old Mac!"

The opposition Labor party won the Stockton seat in 1959 over the Conservatives in a two-way fight. This time the resurgent Liberal party—bubbling with confidence after shock wins over the Tories in two recent special elections—has man in the field. The election on Thursday was made necessary by the resignation of the Laborite incumbent.

The Liberal candidate is John Mulholland, 28. William Rodgers, 30, carries the flag of the Labor party and claims he will have a runaway victory. Macmillan is campaigning in behalf of Gerald Coles, 28.

W. C. Wade, Police Chief At Annapolis, Is Stricken

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Wilbur C. Wade, 59-year-old police chief of Anne Arundel County, was in critical condition Monday after suffering a stroke at his desk.

The Anne Arundel General Hospital said Wade was unconscious and receiving oxygen.

Wade has been chief of the county police since 1955. He has been a policeman in Anne Arundel since 1931.

San Quentin, which houses California's death row and gas chamber, has been burdened with overcrowding problems for many months.

More than 50 convicts were transferred last January to Folsom Prison, the state's maximum security institution, following an outbreak of narcotics smuggling in which four convicts were stabbed to death.

The prison now houses 4,456 prisoners, down from a peak of 5,000 reached last December. The prison, 15 miles north of San Francisco across the Golden Gate, was built in 1851 to house 2,600 inmates.

40 Million Born During Decade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau reported today there were 40.9 million births in the United States compared with 15.6 million deaths. The difference between the two figures represents a natural population increase of 25.3 million in the 1950s.

In addition, the number of immigrants exceeded the number of emigrants by nearly 2.7 million, bringing the total 10-year population gain to 28 million.

The population thus increased by 18.5 per cent, from 151.3 million in 1950 to 179.3 million in 1960.

The report said the white population showed a natural increase of 15.5 per cent during the decade. The natural increase of the nonwhite population was 26.8 per cent.

Mansfield said there is growing concern that most of the critical decisions in the United Nations, such as its decisions to go into the Congo and the Middle East, have been reached on the basis of one-state one-vote procedure in the General Assembly.

He referred to the fact that a nation of 175,000 population has the same vote in the assembly as the United States or the Soviet Union.

Refers To Deadbeats

The majority leader also referred to what he called deadbeats in the United Nations who, he said, vote for operations like the Congo and then refuse to pay their share of the cost.

Refusal of the Soviet bloc and other nations to pay their assessments for the Congo and Middle East efforts brought about the U.N. financial plight.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said in a statement the United Nations should seek new sources of revenue independent of member contributions. He said the United Nations should lay claim to tax rights in such areas as space, the oceans, and polar resources.

The proposal before the Senate was sponsored jointly by Mansfield and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, and was approved by President Kennedy.

Bond Proposed

It would authorize the President to negotiate terms and conditions under which the United States could lend up to $100 million to the United Nations. All loans above $25 million would be contingent on equivalent loans or bond purchases by other countries.

Presumably the President could set an interest rate of 2 per cent and make the U.S. loans for 25 years—the terms of the proposed bonds.

The proposal replaces a previous plan under which the President would have been authorized to purchase $25 million in 25-year, 2 per cent U.N. bonds, with additional authority to match subscriptions by other nations up to $100 million.

Although the compromise uses the word "loan" throughout and does not include any reference to a bond issue, senators agreed in debate that it would give Kennedy virtually all the bond-purchasing authority he sought.

Maryland News In Brief

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Judge Benmamin Michaelson, a circuit judge for 14 years, says the Anne Arundel County grand jury should be given enough money to investigate what he said are rumors of wrongdoing in county government.

"The state's attorney can't be running around doing it all by himself," said Judge Michaelson, who retired Saturday. He said the stories should be branded as false or established as fact.

RANDALLSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Noah E. Kefauver Jr., president of the Maryland Farm Bureau, says a proposed Farm Labor Recruitment Act "would, in effect, make the secretary of labor a farm labor contractor."

Kefauver said in a weekend statement that an employer would be required to contract with the Department of Labor for seasonal workers and the Farm Bureau is opposed to the department being responsible "for the writing of farmer-worker contracts of employment."

Mrs. Mary Anderson was burned on both arms and her son, Thomas, 9, was burned on the face. Seven-year-old twins, Norman and Norma, were cared for by neighbors.

South Baltimore General Hospital said the condition of Mrs. Anderson and Thomas was good.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — The office of Rep. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., said Monday the radio division of Bendix Corp. at Towson has received a multi-million-dollar Air Force contract for development of a space detection and tracking system called SPADAT.

Bendix said the SPADAT systems, to be situated in Florida, would be designed to detect and track hostile satellites.

New Ruling Made On Hatch Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission ruled Monday that federal employes in Maryland may take part in election campaigns for Circuit Court judges.

The commission, in an interpretation of the Hatch Act, said judgeship campaigns, under Maryland law, are conducted on a nonpartisan basis.

Employes were advised, however, they will be held responsible if their activities slip into partisan matters.

Police Veteran Admits Taking Quarter Beef

The owner of the truck said he had been paid $163.80 for the beef and planned no criminal action.

However, Lt. Henry W. Kone of the Baltimore County police was called before a trial board on a charge of making a false report to his superiors.

Kone reported when he reached the scene of the truck accident Feb. 5 he had opened the trunk of his car to get out warning flares.

A fireman dragging a 300-pound of beef asked him "Lieutenant, do you want me to throw one of these in your trunk?" Kone reported.

"Sure," he reported.

Kone said the meat was muddy, he took it home and later put it in a freezing establishment.

Another policeman, Patrolman William Purnell, testified he drove the lieutenant directly to a grocery where the meat was put in a freezer.

Kone said he gave a check for $81.90 to a Towson attorney representing five Lutherville firemen suspended for taking another side of beef.

Four of the firemen were volunteers and they were reinstated after one week. A paid member of the County Fire Bureau was permitted to resign.

Ship Company Suspends Service On Chesapeake

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Steam Packet Company will suspend freight service April 12, company president Robert E. Dunn announced Monday.

Dunn said operating deficits caused the suspension of daily freight service down the Chesapeake Bay from Baltimore to Norfolk, Va. Passenger service was discontinued last September.

About 100 employes will be laid off, the company president said. No plans have been made concerning piers and dockage owned by the line, Dunn said, and the firm's three steamboats will be tied up indefinitely.

The shipping company has been operating out of Baltimore for more than 122 years.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon said today that some federal income tax cuts might be possible in the next year or so if Congress goes along with President Kennedy's present tax reform proposals.

Here's why Dr. M. V. Ross, NEW BRIGHTON, PA. changed to GAS Heat!

Dr. Ross has resided in the Beaver Valley area since 1941. What does Dr. Ross think of Gas and electric heat? How does he compare them? Here are his answers to several important questions:

Question: Your total electric cost from December, 1960, through November, 1961, was $306.95 according to your electric bills. Do you feel this to be reasonable?

Answer: "No, I don't, since only 864 square feet of area is heated. In one month alone, I received a bill of $60.99. Being a commercial customer caused me to pay more than a residential customer, but even if I had been listed as a residential customer, I believe my electric bills still would have been quite high."

Question: Did you take any special measures to cut your electric heating costs, Doctor?

Answer: "As a matter of fact, I did. I used tape to seal off one door where air was entering in spite of weather stripping. I also sealed off my window air conditioner."

Question: Does the building meet electric heat requirements, Doctor?

Answer: "Yes. It's fully insulated and has storm doors and windows throughout."

Question: Do you have other electrical appliances?

Answer: "I have several small pieces of equipment, but they are not regularly used. I also have a window air conditioner in one room. And, I had an electric water heater which I never used because of the apparent high cost of operation. I plan to install a Gas water heater."

Answer: "Frankly, no. After my experiences, I could not honestly recommend it to anyone."

Question: Even though you've had Gas heat just a short time, are you satisfied with its operation and cost?

Answer: "Very much so. In fact, my Gas heating bill for the first 20 days ending February 6, 1962, was only $7.15."

WASHINGTON (AP)—A citation for civic accomplishment was given Monday night to Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Evening Star, by B'Nai B'Rith.

McKelway received a plaque from the Argo chapter of the Jewish service organization, which hailed him as an "editor in the great American tradition of a free and responsible press."

The occasion was a combined meeting of the Argo chapter and the Americanization School, operated by the District of Columbia government. This school, attended by immigrants, children of diplomats and others, teaches English and the principles of U. S. government, among other subjects.

Congressional Group Predicts Huge Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House-Senate committee predicted Monday that the federal government would wind up the next fiscal year with a $3.8 to $4.9 billion budget deficit instead of the $500 million surplus foreseen by President Kennedy.

Here's why Dr. M. V. Ross, NEW BRIGHTON, PA. changed to GAS Heat!

Dr. Ross has resided in the Beaver Valley area since 1941. What does Dr. Ross think of Gas and electric heat? How does he compare them? Here are his answers to several important questions:

Question: Your total electric cost from December, 1960, through November, 1961, was $306.95 according to your electric bills. Do you feel this to be reasonable?

Answer: "No, I don't, since only 864 square feet of area is heated. In one month alone, I received a bill of $60.99. Being a commercial customer caused me to pay more than a residential customer, but even if I had been listed as a residential customer, I believe my electric bills still would have been quite high."

Question: Did you take any special measures to cut your electric heating costs, Doctor?

Answer: "As a matter of fact, I did. I used tape to seal off one door where air was entering in spite of weather stripping. I also sealed off my window air conditioner."

Question: How large is your building?

Question: Does the building meet electric heat requirements, Doctor?

Answer: "Yes. It's fully insulated and has storm doors and windows throughout."

Question: Do you have other electrical appliances?

Answer: "I have several small pieces of equipment, but they are not regularly used. I also have a window air conditioner in one room. And, I had an electric water heater which I never used because of the apparent high cost of operation. I plan to install a Gas water heater."

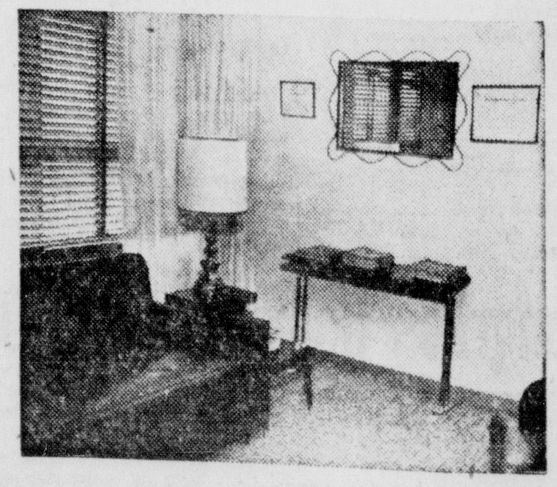
Answer: "Frankly, no. After my experiences, I could not honestly recommend it to anyone."

Question: Even though you've had Gas heat just a short time, are you satisfied with its operation and cost?

Answer: "Very much so. In fact, my Gas heating bill for the first 20 days ending February 6, 1962, was only $7.15."



IF YOU ARE BUILDING, BUYING OR REMODELING, GO GAS FOR COMFORT, CONVENIENCE AND CLEANLINESS ALL AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE COST!

The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 110 A reader wants a gift selection of the dozens of new books on the Civil War prompted by the Centennial. This reader's choice:

"The Divided Union," by J. G. Randall and David Donald (Little, Brown: $6.50), distinguished one-volume, over-all history. . . . "Lincoln Reconsidered," by David Donald (Knopf-Vintage: $1.25) and "Myths After Lincoln," by Lloyd Lewis (Grosset: $1.95), which knock the wind out of ballooning legends of the war president. . . . "The Hidden Face of the Civil War," by Otto Eisenschiml (Bobbs-Merrill: $5). A searcher for facts, unencumbered with sentiment, reaches some provocative conclusions. . . . "Our Incredible Civil War," by Burke Davis (Holt: $4.95). Intriguing oddities and contradictions found by an able biographer of C. W. generals.

"The Civil War at Sea," by Virgil C. Jones (Holt: 2 vols., $6 each). By far the best account of how naval power, exerted by Dahlgren, Farragut and their fellows, sapped the Rebels' strength till Grant couldn't lose. . . . "The Golden Book of the Civil War" (Golden Press: $4.95). An adaptation for young readers of the high-priced "American Heritage Picture History of the Civil War," which has text by Bruce Catton. . . . "The Coming Fury," by Bruce Catton (Doubleday: $7.50), starts a new sequence of volumes covering phases of the war preceding his earlier trilogy, "Glory Road." "Mr. Lincoln's Army" and "A Stillness at Appomattox."

"The Land They Fought For," by Clifford Dowdey (Doubleday: $5.75). The Southern view, 1832-1865, with candor. . . . "The Romantic South," by Harnett Kane (Coward-McCann: $10). A treasury of the best Southern writing about its most attractive aspects.

Easter Bird Sale Ban Is Asked

The Mayor and Council will consider an ordinance which would outlaw the sale of birds and animals in connection with the observance of Easter.

Representatives of the Animal Welfare Society appeared before council yesterday to request the move. In addition to a letter signed by the association president, Mrs. Elise Towler, also heard were George M. Young, Mrs. W. Earle Cobey and Mrs. F. Y. Borden.

The group, in general, protested the novelty sale of birds and animals during the Holy Season; urged the city to take the step now so other towns would follow, and that action by the city would tend to discourage merchants outside the city from selling birds and animals for Easter pets.

Mrs. Cobey said council in taking its action should consider the children. The Society is not opposed to them having animals but it is the spirit in which the animals are bought and whether they will be loved and cared for. There have been reports of living animals being found in garbage cans after Easter, she said, and others have been allowed to die because of lack of care, food and water.

The possiblity of countywide action was discussed but it was pointed out the county would have to go before the Legislature to have a law enacted. Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder had suggested a meeting between the commissioners and Mayor J. Edwin Keech on the subject but withdrew the suggestion when this fact was made known. Council then adopted a motion by Street Commissioner John J. Long to have a local ordinance drawn by City Attorney William R. Carscaden.

Two Survive Plane Crash On Mountain

A 49-year-old electronics professor and his daughter, who is 17, were injured Sunday when their single engine airplane crashed during a snowstorm on North Mountain, one mile south of Riverton in Pendleton County.

Rescuers reached Robert F. Buss, of Palo Alto, Calif., who teaches at Stanford University, and his daughter, Jennifer, shortly after midnight. The crash occurred about 9 p. m.

Neither was hurt seriously, but both were taken to Rockingham Memorial Hospital, Harrisonburg, Va. Buss had a broken collarbone, rib fractures and other injuries. The girl sustained bruises.

Their Cessna 170 "squashed down" about two-thirds up the west side of the rocky and brushy mountainside. They left Washington at 2:45 p.m. Sunday, headed for Charleston where Buss had a speaking engagement, and refueled at Charlottesville, Va.

Buss ran into "dirty weather" and contacted the Elkins airport to pick up a range beam. However, he went the wrong way and began circling. His plane touched tree tops and the crash followed only a few miles from 4,860-foot high Spruce Knob, highest peak in West Virginia.

The plane flipped over on its top, and Buss dragged himself from the wreckage. His daughter followed. Then they secured a flashlight and started down the mountain in the direction of house lights. Rescuers who had heard the plane met them.

State Police said Buss and his daughter were enroute home. The plane was damaged extensively.

Heidelberg Offers Much To Tourists

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) —This medieval town on the Neckar River, famous as the locale for Sigmund Romberg's "Student Prince," is a favorite for American tourists.

Both are still here. Both are doing booming business.

Most tourists stop first at the Re Ox, crammed with photographs, autographs and souvenirs of student life in old Heidelberg. The bar maids are friendly and industrious but one might be disappointed looking for the one who enamored the prince.

Few university fraternity, or "corps" members as they are known here, are to be seen at the Red Ox, primarily, say the waitresses, because the heavy flow of tourists leaves them no space.

Heidelberg, of course, has its castle, high on a mountain overlooking the town and river. Facing it across the valley is a wooded pathway called "philosophers lane" because it is said to have inspired noble thoughts from a number of thinkers.

Tourists can stay at a number of hotels. A favorite of many is the Ritter (knight) on the Hauptstrasse facing the city cathedral. Both trace heir origins back several centuries.

Double rooms at the Ritter begin at $5. Other hotels offer accommodations more and less expensive. Heidelberg also has a youth hostel as do most other cities in West Germany.

Quality Control Unit Plans Dinner Tonight

The Cumberland Section of the American Society for Quality Control will hold a dinner meeting today at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The speaker will be Frank Caplan Jr., of the Atomic Fuel Department of Westinghouse Corporation, who will discuss "Quality Control in Atomic Industry."

Caplan is exhibits chairman for the national society and is the author of several papers on quality control. His background includes plant experience in the field as well as teaching the subject.

The program will start at 6:30 p. m. and non-members may attend.

Sweden Opens New Air Terminal

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — King Gustaf Adolf VI and government officials attended the formal opening of Sweden's new international airport Sunday at Arlanda, 27 miles north of Stockholm.

With the landing of a plane from Oslo, all international traffic was switched formally to Arlanda from Stockholm's Bromma Airport, which proved too small in the jet age. Bromma hereafter will be used only for air traffic inside Sweden.

Rome Visitors Should Take A Lot Of Time

ROME (UPI)—Three days in Rome is like taking one bite of spaghetti. You usually want more.

The Eternal City offers so much that three days just skims the surface. Aside from the old standbys such as the Colosseum, the Roman Forum, the Pantheon and the Catacombs, there is something tourists cannot see in that time—the every day life oft he city.

But certainly those ancient monuments dating back 2,000 years are worth seeing. An easy way, and probably the best, is to spend the first day of the Roman holiday on a tourist bus, a service furnished by any number of agencies.

A great way to spend the first night—both so far as food and sightseeing go—is to take a trip across the Tiber River to "Trastevere," the old residential section of Rome and the apartments and palaces that line the narrow, winding streets are hundreds of years old. It is one of the most fascinating sections of the city. There are numerous restaurants, almost without exception serving excellent Roman cooking. Many of them are located in or around the Piazza Santa Maria in Trastevere (Square of St. Mary in Trastevere)

After dinner take a horse-drawn carriage or taxi and tell the driver to make "un giro di Trastevere"—a tour around Trastevere. With luck he will take you along the narrow streets — many with washing hanging out of the windows of the apartments—that suddenly come to small, beautiful squares with lovely fountains.

For the second day in Rome, try the Vatican. Go in the morning rather than the afternoon because the Vatican Museum and other parts open to the public are closed after 1 p.m.

There is the Vatican Museum, the Treasury, the Sistine Chapel and, of course, St. Peter's basilica.

From there, take a ride out to the Old Appian Way, a tree-shaded road which stretches for several miles south of Rome. It is lined with old monuments, tombs and villas.

For dinner, pick a quiet, out of the way restaurant and spend two or three hours enjoying the specialities of the house—just like the real Romans do. Nine out of 10 restaurants in the Eternal City serve good food. Afterwards, take a stroll along the Via Veneto—the "Great White Way" of Rome.

If a tourist is lucky, at least one day of his stay will be a Sunday.

A good way to start the morning—the earlier the better—is to go to Rome's flea market, called the "Porta Portese." It is open only on Sunday morning.

The long street, on the right bank of the Tiber, is lined with stalls that sell everything from American shirts and bluejeans to antiques. But be careful! Many of the antiques were made a week before.

If there is something to buy, don't pay the price asked. Bargain, bargain and bargain.

From the "Porta Portese" it is back to St. Peter's Square—and be sure to be there by noon. At noon the Pope will come out onto his balcony overlooking the beautiful square to bless the crowd, which may be as large as 20,000 persons.

Castro To Ease Fish, Soap Rationing

HAVANA (UPI) — The government Sunday announced a slight easing of rationing of fish and soap for residents of the metropolitan Havana area.

Drastic food rationing and restrictions on the sale of household necessities were announced by Premier Fidel Castro three three weeks ago.

A previously scheduled limitation of one pound of fish per month for each person has been revised and fish will be put on sale four times monthly, the announcement said.

Lakes Above Spillways

Lake Gordon is three inches above the crest of the spillway and Lake Koon two inches above, a report by Ray Nixon, water plant foreman to the Mayor and Council showed yesterday. Consumption for the week ending Sunday was 67,190,000 gallons compared to 94,640,000 the same period a year ago.

Do's and don'ts of
in stocks and bonds

If you're planning to invest in stocks and bonds, these simple suggestions may help you act wisely and well:

DO decide beforehand how much you can invest, after providing for living costs and a fund for emergencies.

DON'T invest more than you can comfortably afford.

DO define your investment goals. Do you want added income during the year? Or securities that may grow in value through the years? If you're interested in stability of income and safety of capital, bonds may suit your needs best.

DO get the facts. What is a company's past record? How well is it doing now? In addition, what are its prospects?

DON'T expect securities to pile up profits just because you own them. Prices go up; but they also go down. And a company may not continue to pay dividends on its stock, or interest on its bonds.

DO choose your broker carefully. A good way is to visit a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Registered Representatives there can't foretell the future; but they have satisfied Exchange requirements for knowledge of the securities business, and they'll be glad to give you their opinions.

DON'T be afraid to tell the broker how much you can invest. Discuss your aims with him. Ask him about some of the famous companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange. He'll be glad to help you.

DO send for our free booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." This booklet records more than 400 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every three months for 20 years or longer. It describes the Monthly Investment Plan, by which you may invest with as little as $40 every three months. And it offers much other valuable information about investing. Two Survive Plane Crash On Mountain

A 49-year-old electronics professor and his daughter, who is 17, were injured Sunday when their single engine airplane crashed during a snowstorm on North Mountain, one mile south of Riverton in Pendleton County.

Rescuers reached Robert F. Buss, of Palo Alto, Calif., who teaches at Stanford University, and his daughter, Jennifer, shortly after midnight. The crash occurred about 9 p. m.

Neither was hurt seriously, but both were taken to Rockingham Memorial Hospital, Harrisonburg, Va. Buss had a broken collarbone, rib fractures and other injuries. The girl sustained bruises.

Their Cessna 170 "squashed down" about two-thirds up the west side of the rocky and brushy mountainside. They left Washington at 2:45 p.m. Sunday, headed for Charleston where Buss had a speaking engagement, and refueled at Charlottesville, Va.

Buss ran into "dirty weather" and contacted the Elkins airport to pick up a range beam. However, he went the wrong way and began circling. His plane touched tree tops and the crash followed only a few miles from 4,860-foot high Spruce Knob, highest peak in West Virginia.

The plane flipped over on its top, and Buss dragged himself from the wreckage. His daughter followed. Then they secured a flashlight and started down the mountain in the direction of house lights. Rescuers who had heard the plane met them.

State Police said Buss and his daughter were enroute home. The plane was damaged extensively.

Heidelberg Offers Much To Tourists

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) —This medieval town on the Neckar River, famous as the locale for Sigmund Romberg's "Student Prince," is a favorite for American tourists.

Both are still here. Both are doing booming business.

Most tourists stop first at the Re Ox, crammed with photographs, autographs and souvenirs of student life in old Heidelberg. The bar maids are friendly and industrious but one might be disappointed looking for the one who enamored the prince.

Few university fraternity, or "corps" members as they are known here, are to be seen at the Red Ox, primarily, say the waitresses, because the heavy flow of tourists leaves them no space.

Heidelberg, of course, has its castle, high on a mountain overlooking the town and river. Facing it across the valley is a wooded pathway called "philosophers lane" because it is said to have inspired noble thoughts from a number of thinkers.

Tourists can stay at a number of hotels. A favorite of many is the Ritter (knight) on the Hauptstrasse facing the city cathedral. Both trace heir origins back several centuries.

Double rooms at the Ritter begin at $5. Other hotels offer accommodations more and less expensive. Heidelberg also has a youth hostel as do most other cities in West Germany.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — King Gustaf Adolf VI and government officials attended the formal opening of Sweden's new international airport Sunday at Arlanda, 27 miles north of Stockholm.

With the landing of a plane from Oslo, all international traffic was switched formally to Arlanda from Stockholm's Bromma Airport, which proved too small in the jet age. Bromma hereafter will be used only for air traffic inside Sweden.

Rome Visitors Should Take A Lot Of Time

ROME (UPI)—Three days in Rome is like taking one bite of spaghetti. You usually want more.

The Eternal City offers so much that three days just skims the surface. Aside from the old standbys such as the Colosseum, the Roman Forum, the Pantheon and the Catacombs, there is something tourists cannot see in that time—the every day life oft he city.

But certainly those ancient monuments dating back 2,000 years are worth seeing. An easy way, and probably the best, is to spend the first day of the Roman holiday on a tourist bus, a service furnished by any number of agencies.

A great way to spend the first night—both so far as food and sightseeing go—is to take a trip across the Tiber River to "Trastevere," the old residential section of Rome and the apartments and palaces that line the narrow, winding streets are hundreds of years old. It is one of the most fascinating sections of the city. There are numerous restaurants, almost without exception serving excellent Roman cooking. Many of them are located in or around the Piazza Santa Maria in Trastevere (Square of St. Mary in Trastevere)

After dinner take a horse-drawn carriage or taxi and tell the driver to make "un giro di Trastevere"—a tour around Trastevere. With luck he will take you along the narrow streets — many with washing hanging out of the windows of the apartments—that suddenly come to small, beautiful squares with lovely fountains.

For the second day in Rome, try the Vatican. Go in the morning rather than the afternoon because the Vatican Museum and other parts open to the public are closed after 1 p.m.

There is the Vatican Museum, the Treasury, the Sistine Chapel and, of course, St. Peter's basilica.

From there, take a ride out to the Old Appian Way, a tree-shaded road which stretches for several miles south of Rome. It is lined with old monuments, tombs and villas.

For dinner, pick a quiet, out of the way restaurant and spend two or three hours enjoying the specialities of the house—just like the real Romans do. Nine out of 10 restaurants in the Eternal City serve good food. Afterwards, take a stroll along the Via Veneto—the "Great White Way" of Rome.

If a tourist is lucky, at least one day of his stay will be a Sunday.

A good way to start the morning—the earlier the better—is to go to Rome's flea market, called the "Porta Portese." It is open only on Sunday morning.

The long street, on the right bank of the Tiber, is lined with stalls that sell everything from American shirts and bluejeans to antiques. But be careful! Many of the antiques were made a week before.

If there is something to buy, don't pay the price asked. Bargain, bargain and bargain.

From the "Porta Portese" it is back to St. Peter's Square—and be sure to be there by noon. At noon the Pope will come out onto his balcony overlooking the beautiful square to bless the crowd, which may be as large as 20,000 persons.

Castro To Ease Fish, Soap Rationing

HAVANA (UPI) — The government Sunday announced a slight easing of rationing of fish and soap for residents of the metropolitan Havana area.

Drastic food rationing and restrictions on the sale of household necessities were announced by Premier Fidel Castro three three weeks ago.

A previously scheduled limitation of one pound of fish per month for each person has been revised and fish will be put on sale four times monthly, the announcement said.

Do's and don'ts of intelligent investing in stocks and bonds

If you're planning to invest in stocks and bonds, these simple suggestions may help you act wisely and well:

DO decide beforehand how much you can invest, after providing for living costs and a fund for emergencies.

DON'T invest more than you can comfortably afford.

DO define your investment goals. Do you want added income during the year? Or securities that may grow in value through the years? If you're interested in stability of income and safety of capital, bonds may suit your needs best.

DO get the facts. What is a company's past record? How well is it doing now? In addition, what are its prospects?

DON'T expect securities to pile up profits just because you own them. Prices go up; but they also go down. And a company may not continue to pay dividends on its stock, or interest on its bonds.

DO choose your broker carefully. A good way is to visit a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Registered Representatives there can't foretell the future; but they have satisfied Exchange requirements for knowledge of the securities business, and they'll be glad to give you their opinions.

DON'T be afraid to tell the broker how much you can invest. Discuss your aims with him. Ask him about some of the famous companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange. He'll be glad to help you.

DO send for our free booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." This booklet records more than 400 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every three months for 20 years or longer. It describes the Monthly Investment Plan, by which you may invest with as little as $40 every three months. And it offers much other valuable information about investing. Just mail the coupon; we'll send you a copy free.

Secrets Of Charm

Exercise For A Long-Lost Contour

The young look of a firm uplifted bosom above a flat firm abdomen is one of the beauty lines most coveted by all who lack them. If this is a line of beauty which you once had but lost, or if you never counted it as one of your charms, there is a routine which, when faithfully followed for a few months, will give most satisfactory results.

1. Kneel on the floor, thighs together. Lower your buttocks to rest on your heels (let your feet spread a bit). Keep your back erect, chin parallel to the floor. Grasp your ankles with your hands.

2. Simultaneously arch your back, drop your head backward as far as possible and push your buttocks forward; retract your abdomen. Work until you feel your abdomen flatten.

3. Hold the above position as you lazily raise your right arm forward and rotate it until the back of your hand is parallel to the floor, well behind your head, and you feel a gentle tug in your chest muscles. Reversing the motion, return your hand to the ankle and perform the action with your left arm.

4. Come back to your first position and repeat the action from ten to twenty times depending on your fatigue span. The moment you tire, give up.

In two or three months, you will be pridefully looking at your new figure.

FIGURED FOR YOU gives expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. He warned that if Americans are not careful and misplace sympathies may destroy the country. He urged revision of the way of thinking to some extent, and warned the necessity of facing problems of the world today.

Potomac Valley Club To Build Training Ring

Discussion concerning a new practice and training ring and the horse show to be held May 27 featured the meeting of the Potomac Valley Riding Club, which was held Sunday at the club house on Route 28. The parade is designed to show the type quality horses being bred and raised in Western Maryland. All entries for the parade must be in the hands of the show secretary by May 3. No late entries will be accepted. Entries for regular classes will be accepted on show day, but will not be listed in the printed program.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Exercise For A Long-Lost Contour

The young look of a firm uplifted bosom above a flat firm abdomen is one of the beauty lines most coveted by all who lack them. If this is a line of beauty which you once had but lost, or if you never counted it as one of your charms, there is a routine which, when faithfully followed for a few months, will give most satisfactory results.

1. Kneel on the floor, thighs together. Lower your buttocks to rest on your heels (let your feet spread a bit). Keep your back erect, chin parallel to the floor. Grasp your ankles with your hands.

2. Simultaneously arch your back, drop your head backward as far as possible and push your buttocks forward; retract your abdomen. Work until you feel your abdomen flatten.

3. Hold the above position as you lazily raise your right arm forward and rotate it until the back of your hand is parallel to the floor, well behind your head, and you feel a gentle tug in your chest muscles. Reversing the motion, return your hand to the ankle and perform the action with your left arm.

4. Come back to your first position and repeat the action from ten to twenty times depending on your fatigue span. The moment you tire, give up.

In two or three months, you will be pridefully looking at your new figure.

FIGURED FOR YOU gives expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. Send 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper for FIGURE FOR YOU.

Gray Lady Work Is Outlined

Tentative plans to begin a gray lady course in April was announced by Mrs. Sara Lindsay at the informal luncheon marking the close of the local chapter of Red Cross "Thank You" campaign conducted during March, which was held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Mrs. Lindsay said at present there are 11 gray ladies on duty at Sacred Heart Hospital. 12 at Memorial and six at the County Infirmary. They also serve at first aid stations, accompany Motor Corps volunteers and assist nurses at the blood bank and will be available at shelter areas in event of a disaster.

The duties and responsibilities of the group was discussed by Mrs. Robert Gerson, chairman of volunteers, who also complimented them on their services to the community. Mrs. Edward Naughton, chairman of Gray Ladies, explained the work of volunteers to the prospective members. Some of the women present told of their work at their assigned stations, and Mrs. Catherine Armbuster discussed their activities at the bloodmobile.

An informal question and answer period followed. Thirty active Gray Ladies and prospective volunteers attended.

He warned that if Americans are not careful and misplace sympathies may destroy the country. He urged revision of the way of thinking to some extent, and warned the necessity of facing problems of the world today.

City Approves Pay Hike Retroactive To March 25

The Mayor and Council yesterday passed a job classification and pay ordinance which includes a five-cent wage increase for all city employes retroactive to March 25.

The new ordinance, in addition to the five-cent hike, also combines recommendations made during studies by the Department of Employment Security and Milton Millon of the Technical Advisory Service of the Maryland Municipal League and was recommended for passage some time ago by the Cumberland Civil Service Commission.

It was brought out during discussion that the Civil Service Commission recommendation had been adopted as was with one exception. Earlier, Street Commissioner John J. Long had said he was under the impression some other changes had been made and if that were so, then the new ordinance was "not strong legislation." When advised these changes were not made, Long said he stood corrected but felt better for having stated his position.

It was pointed out that no employes are included in the first five classifications of the ordinance but that they provide for the future if any seasonal or temporary employes are hired.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light prior to voting, said he wanted to know if an employe who was given greater responsibility prior to the end of the year and moved up a step in the classification would start receiving the higher rate of pay at once.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said the ordinance is set up on a fiscal year basis, the same as the previous classification law and that ordinarily an employe would go from one step to another at the end of the fiscal year providing his work is satisfactory.

On the question raised by Light, he said that is a matter of department policy.

Police Officers Are Promoted

Three policemen were promoted to corporal by action of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Promoted are Roy C. Hawse, effective yesterday; Oliver L. Cook, effective today and Donald M. Boggs, effective Wednesday.

An order promoting Cook effective last week was rescinded because, Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said, it preceded action on the classification ordinance.

Kenneth W. Reiber was named a probationary pipeman in the Fire Department.

Two seasonal workers for the Recreation Department were appointed. They are Gary Thompson, senior ballfield leader, $55 bi-weekly; and Charles Imes, laborer, $1.35 an hour.

Council also approved the hiring of Bert Caldara to stage the annual July 4 fireworks display at Constitution Park. Cost will be $650.

City Grants Club Lease For Ball Field

Cumberland Dapper Dans have been granted a five-year lease with five-year option to operate the new Little League baseball field which is to be constructed in Goethe Street Addition (McNamee's Hill).

The Mayor and Council approved the lease request yesterday by a 4-1 vote. In voting against the order, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said she did not do so because she opposed operation of the field by the Dapper Dans.

Rather, she said, she felt council should have a little more time to study a long-term proposal such as this and to take into consideration that the city would be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the field.

She said she knew the excellent work which the Dapper Dans do but felt that since she had learned of the proposal only yesterday, she would like a few days to look into it.

The letter from Peter J. Carpenti, Dapper Dan president, said the organization wanted the lease for $1 a year. The DD would pay initial expense of grading and construction of dugouts and bleachers. The city would pay the cost of fencing and annual maintenance.

Carpenti's letter said Dapper Dans would spend about $2,500 on the project and also receive cooperation from interested firms and individuals in getting the field in shape.

Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason recommended the move and said the Dapper Dans could get construction completed at one-third or one-half the cost which the city would pay if it advertised for bids. This will be a savings to the city, he added, meaning that more money will be available from the Recreation Bond Issue to finance other projects at the new recreation site including tennis courts and a picnic area.

Proceeds from any concessions and the like would go to the Dapper Dans and applied to the Little League program. No charge is made for regular Little League although there is an admission for a couple of special games — the Booster and All-Star—during the season.

Delegates Named For Medical Meet

Dr. George M. Simons and Dr. Walter H. Himmler will be the official delegates for Allegany and Garrett counties at the annual meeting of the House of Delegates of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, Wednesday through Friday in Baltimore.

Alternates for the sessions, which will be held at the Alcazar, are Dr. Leslie L. Mould and Dr. Wyand F. Doerner.

Mrs. Howard L. Tolson will present a report at a meeting of the state organization's Woman's Auxiliary, which will hold a convention April 4-5 at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, Baltimore.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) will present the keynote address at the presidential dinner of the Faculty Thursday night at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel. The topic will be "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

Hospital Asks Taps For Water

The Mayor and Council was asked yesterday to grant water and sewage tap rights for the new hospital to be constructed by the Sisters of Charity who operate Sacred Heart Hospital.

Henry F. Frederick, agent for the hospital, requested the right to tap on the sewer line at Camden Avenue extension and the end of the sewer line at Braddock Road; and the right to be supplied with water from the city water tank on Haystack Mountain just west of Seneca Avenue.

Frederick said the new hospital will be built on Haystack Mountain several hundred feet north of the city limits on land formerly owned by former Chief Judge George Henderson and adjacent to the Burton property east of Sunset View.

Frederick said the hospital is ready to proceed with design and plans for the new structure and architects are due here Tuesday, April 10. It is hoped, he said, to have water and sewage rights by that time.

Council held the request one week for discussion.

Youth Tried For Assault

An 18-year-old Piedmont Avenue youth was given a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court yesterday on a charge of assault, an outgrowth of a water spraying incident that was touched off by a dispute over the use of backyard facilities of an apartment house.

Joseph Van Horn admitted spraying Mrs. Charles Troutman March 29 following an argument over the use of a backyard at the rear of 611 Piedmont Avenue. The Van Horn boy and his parents rent the first floor of the apartment, and Mr. and Mrs. Troutman rent the second floor, from Eric Roeder, landlord.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett, who heard the case, continued the hearing until April 16 when the youth will appear again before the magistrate.

Mrs. Troutman informed the court that young Van Horn turned the hose on her while she was carrying her crippled 14-month old daughter, and again several minutes later after she handed her baby to a neighbor to hold.

Magistrate Barnett informed the parties that as he understood it, the understanding held by the Van Horns that they could exclude the Troutmans from use of the yard was false, and that as common property, both families have equal use of the yard.

Seek Views On Garbage Collection

Several communications against the daytime collection of garbage were received and filed by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The shift from night to day collections began March 19 for a 30-day trial period with either party, council or R and R Sanitation, the contractor, having right to cancel.

Members of council said they would like to have further expression of public reaction to the change and urged citizens to submit cards or letters on the subject before a final decision is made to continue or discontinue the daylight collections.

Driver Fined $100

A 20-year-old Taneytown farm worker was fined $100 yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving on a suspended license.

Paul Robison was fined by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

City Police Officer Robert G. Hershberger arrested Robinson yesterday about 7:45 p. m. on Bedford Street after he discovered that he possessed no registration card, and after a check was made with the registration list at State Police barracks in LaVale.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light prior to voting, said he wanted to know if an employe who was given greater responsibility prior to the end of the year and moved up a step in the classification would start receiving the higher rate of pay at once.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said the ordinance is set up on a fiscal year basis, the same as the previous classification law and that ordinarily an employe would go from one step to another at the end of the fiscal year providing his work is satisfactory.

On the question raised by Light, he said that is a matter of department policy.

Police Officers Are Promoted

Three policemen were promoted to corporal by action of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Promoted are Roy C. Hawse, effective yesterday; Oliver L. Cook, effective today and Donald M. Boggs, effective Wednesday.

An order promoting Cook effective last week was rescinded because, Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said, it preceded action on the classification ordinance.

Kenneth W. Reiber was named a probationary pipeman in the Fire Department.

Two seasonal workers for the Recreation Department were appointed. They are Gary Thompson, senior ballfield leader, $55 bi-weekly; and Charles Imes, laborer, $1.35 an hour.

Council also approved the hiring of Bert Caldara to stage the annual July 4 fireworks display at Constitution Park. Cost will be $650.

City Grants Club Lease For Ball Field

Cumberland Dapper Dans have been granted a five-year lease with five-year option to operate the new Little League baseball field which is to be constructed in Goethe Street Addition (McNamee's Hill).

The Mayor and Council approved the lease request yesterday by a 4-1 vote. In voting against the order, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said she did not do so because she opposed operation of the field by the Dapper Dans.

Rather, she said, she felt council should have a little more time to study a long-term proposal such as this and to take into consideration that the city would be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the field.

She said she knew the excellent work which the Dapper Dans do but felt that since she had learned of the proposal only yesterday, she would like a few days to look into it.

The letter from Peter J. Carpenti, Dapper Dan president, said the organization wanted the lease for $1 a year. The DD would pay initial expense of grading and construction of dugouts and bleachers. The city would pay the cost of fencing and annual maintenance.

Carpenti's letter said Dapper Dans would spend about $2,500 on the project and also receive cooperation from interested firms and individuals in getting the field in shape.

Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason recommended the move and said the Dapper Dans could get construction completed at one-third or one-half the cost which the city would pay if it advertised for bids. This will be a savings to the city, he added, meaning that more money will be available from the Recreation Bond Issue to finance other projects at the new recreation site including tennis courts and a picnic area.

Proceeds from any concessions and the like would go to the Dapper Dans and applied to the Little League program. No charge is made for regular Little League although there is an admission for a couple of special games — the Booster and All-Star—during the season.

Delegates Named For Medical Meet

Dr. George M. Simons and Dr. Walter H. Himmler will be the official delegates for Allegany and Garrett counties at the annual meeting of the House of Delegates of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, Wednesday through Friday in Baltimore.

Alternates for the sessions, which will be held at the Alcazar, are Dr. Leslie L. Mould and Dr. Wyand F. Doerner.

Mrs. Howard L. Tolson will present a report at a meeting of the state organization's Woman's Auxiliary, which will hold a convention April 4-5 at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, Baltimore.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) will present the keynote address at the presidential dinner of the Faculty Thursday night at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel. The topic will be "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

Hospital Asks Taps For Water

The Mayor and Council was asked yesterday to grant water and sewage tap rights for the new hospital to be constructed by the Sisters of Charity who operate Sacred Heart Hospital.

Henry F. Frederick, agent for the hospital, requested the right to tap on the sewer line at Camden Avenue extension and the end of the sewer line at Braddock Road; and the right to be supplied with water from the city water tank on Haystack Mountain just west of Seneca Avenue.

Frederick said the new hospital will be built on Haystack Mountain several hundred feet north of the city limits on land formerly owned by former Chief Judge George Henderson and adjacent to the Burton property east of Sunset View.

Frederick said the hospital is ready to proceed with design and plans for the new structure and architects are due here Tuesday, April 10. It is hoped, he said, to have water and sewage rights by that time.

Council held the request one week for discussion.

Youth Tried For Assault

An 18-year-old Piedmont Avenue youth was given a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court yesterday on a charge of assault, an outgrowth of a water spraying incident that was touched off by a dispute over the use of backyard facilities of an apartment house.

Joseph Van Horn admitted spraying Mrs. Charles Troutman March 29 following an argument over the use of a backyard at the rear of 611 Piedmont Avenue. The Van Horn boy and his parents rent the first floor of the apartment, and Mr. and Mrs. Troutman rent the second floor, from Eric Roeder, landlord.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett, who heard the case, continued the hearing until April 16 when the youth will appear again before the magistrate.

Mrs. Troutman informed the court that young Van Horn turned the hose on her while she was carrying her crippled 14-month old daughter, and again several minutes later after she handed her baby to a neighbor to hold.

Magistrate Barnett informed the parties that as he understood it, the understanding held by the Van Horns that they could exclude the Troutmans from use of the yard was false, and that as common property, both families have equal use of the yard.

Seek Views On Garbage Collection

Several communications against the daytime collection of garbage were received and filed by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The shift from night to day collections began March 19 for a 30-day trial period with either party, council or R and R Sanitation, the contractor, having right to cancel.

Members of council said they would like to have further expression of public reaction to the change and urged citizens to submit cards or letters on the subject before a final decision is made to continue or discontinue the daylight collections.

Driver Fined $100

A 20-year-old Taneytown farm worker was fined $100 yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving on a suspended license.

Paul Robison was fined by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

City Police Officer Robert G. Hershberger arrested Robinson yesterday about 7:45 p. m. on Bedford Street after he discovered that he possessed no registration card, and after a check was made with the registration list at State Police barracks in LaVale.

The Railroads And Government

In a talk to the Milwaukee Kiwanis Club the other day, Joseph C. Kauffman, a vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, said that if things keep going the way they've been going in Washington, the way will be opened for the socialization of America's basic industries — with railroads probably the first to succumb.

"Unless the climate for private enterprise in Washington substantially improves . . . the railroad industry will have to be taken over by the government," said Mr. Kauffman. ". . . I would guess that the public utilities would be next in line, because they are a favorite target for our politicians. Beyond that, we can look for the socialization of other basic industries such as steel and coal and banks. This is the way the process went in Great Britain."

While we seriously doubt that there's any immediate likelihood that Mr. Kauffman's dire predictions will come to pass, nevertheless he's talking sense. Any businessman, even the smallest, can tell you at some length about the trend toward ever greater government regulation. Talk to a railroad or utility official about this and you'll have trouble changing the subject. Here's Mr. Kauffman again on the topic: "No other industry has been regulated for so long . . . , and in no instance has the regulation been so pervasive. We have been the prototype for that great experiment of business status which must be characterized as half free and half slave."

More specifically, he pointed out that the railroad industry is still regulated as a monopoly even though it has plenty of competition for every ton of freight it carries. It may not reduce its rates without approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. It has very little control of its wage costs.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Liberals Vs. Conservatives

Roger C. Dunn, who for a number of years has been surveying and analyzing the American electorate, holds that: "No national party has championed the traditional constitutional concept of American government for over twenty years." He also holds that: "Under the gilded banners of 'liberal,' 'me-too' and 'modern,' the American people have been led far into a welfare-socialist state." His view is that the conservatives have failed because they have, in effect, been unable to state their case; that is, the case for traditional Constitutional government.

I fear that Dunn over-simplifies his problem, for to state it accurately and with some relationship to the realities of the current situation, he must define how he would apply his concept of the American Constitutional government to the manufacture and cost of the rockets and the social consequences of unemployment.

The climactic shift in the American view of government occurred in 1929, but it had been in the making prior to that since the Civil War.

Had William Jennings Bryan and the Populist Party won in 1896, many of the sharp changes which subsequently occurred would undoubtedly have started. And Mark Hanna, who managed our government during the two McKinley Administrations, might have found himself in major difficulties were it not for the invention of a chemical means for increasing the gold supply, producing an unusual prosperity. Nevertheless there were strikes and a demand for an eight-hour day and a "full dinner pail" in the 1900 campaign.

It was World War I which forced upon this country startling changes because it was essential, if we went to war at all, for the government to expand its controls over hte economy and the people. The war did not last long and many of the controls were swiftly liquidated, but the pattern of governmental expansion of power remained. The control over the flow of money through the Federal Reserve System and the habit of subsidizing industry for proper performance of government contracts provided a pattern from which we have not moved far. World War II nearly turned us into a fascist state.

What can be said is that economic depression and war are largely responsible for changes in the attitude of the American people toward government. The politicians, in or out of office, can only deal with what they have before them. They are technicians. They are required by their positions to balance one immediate problem against another immediate problem.

Other factors for change in this country have been the increase in population in large cities, the change-over from rural to urban occupations, the granting of political equality to women, the increased organization of labor, the movement of Negroes from South to North and many similar reasons.

The two-party system will collapse, it is true, unless the Republicans cease to be a mere vehicle for electing candidates and produce some beliefs and ideals. The 1960 Platform of the Republican Party is an absurd document, prepared without any relationship to the historic ideals of the party and with no forward look. Richard Nixon had a wonderful opportunity to produce an exciting leadership but he was apparently talked out of it by his associates or by his impossible position, for if he spoke frankly, he would have had to criticize President Eisenhower, which he obviously could not do. It was not until Barry Goldwater took hold that the Republican Party generated ideas which could be histroically its own and then a conservative movement got rolling.

The Republicans have not absorbed the conservatives nor have the conservatives managed to produce any outstanding leadership other than Goldwater thus far. It is not so much bloc voting that is damaging the Republican Party, it is its inability to oppose by defining its terms. At any rate, during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, there were powerful voices in the Republican Party—Herbert Hoover, Robert A. Taft, Joe McCarthy, Styles Bridges and, to an extent, Thomas E. Dewey. These voices no longer speak. In their stead are the "modern" Republicans who want to be elected but will not say why they should be. Senator Jacob Javits, at any rate, has dropped the word "modern" and uses the word, "progressive." He is a progressive Republican without definition. It would be interesting to note whether he can produce a definition. I, for one, would like to wrestle with it.

Let's Not Applaud Steel Settlement Too Soon

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Over in England they have been calling it "the pause" — a temporary restraint on wages and prices. Maybe in America the new settlement between the steel companies and the unions could be called "the standstill," but this would apply only to the halt of increases in hourly wage rates. For the steel industry is going to have to pay out approximately $100,000,000 per year in so-called "fringe benefits."

Also, in less than 12 months, the steel unions will be demanding an increase in wages, as they will have the right to reopen the contract in July 1963. Thus, while they forego a wage rise for the time being, they can insist upon it and bring about a strike, if they wish, a year from June 30 next.

Whenever a strike has been averted for the time being, however, there's a tendency to applaud. This time there is already an inclination to credit the Kennedy administration with a substantial achievement. But this, unhappily, is only a way to gloss over some unpleasant facts.

For the truth is that the steelworkers didn't get a wage increase this time for the same reason that the steel companies didn't dare to raise their prices after the 1959-60 strike. Politics or White House pressure wasn't the decisive factor. The better way to describe what has just happened in the current negotiations is to say that the facts of economic life have at last caught up with the wishful thinkers. If the labor unions have learned a lesson, then real progress can be said to have been made.

The facts show that neither the steel managements nor the labor unions have as much flexibility today as they have had before. The steel companies face some stiff competition at home from comparable products, and they face a continuing loss of markets to steelmakers abroad, who can ship even to this country and undersell American steel because wage costs are much lower in Europe than in America.

The public was led to believe last autumn that the steel companies didn't raise prices just because the President asked them not to do so. Mr. Kennedy himself would be the first, however, to concede that the main reason was that the steel companies couldn't keep an important part of their markets if they raised prices.

These same facts, of course, were hammered home currently to the steel-union leaders, and Secretary Goldberg did play an influential part in convincing the unions that they had gone about as far as present conditions will allow.

As for price-raising in the future, there will indeed be some. Little publicity will be given to the matter, and the increases will be "selective" — in those categories where competition isn't so keen and where specialization in product can be a helpful factor in making sales at higher prices.

The unfavorable aspect of the whole situation, on the other hand, is on the employment side. Now that there is to be no strike, the artificial rise in steel production, resulting from the recent increase in inventories, will be ended. Production will go down again and hours of work will also be decreased. This is a penalty that grows out of the tactics of labor unions when they constantly demand the maximum in wages and threaten strikes. In 1959 they forced a big strike, the losses from which the workers will be unable for a long time to recover in their pay envelopes.

There will be a good deal of "gobbledygook" heard, too, about how the new "guidelines" or standards of "productivity" have been followed in the steel settlement now being made. The fact is that the cost of the fringe benefits will exceed current "productivity" gains, and the companies will for a long time be trying to absorb the 30-cents-an-hour increase—far above "productivity"—which was added to wage contracts during the last three years.

The administration, of course, is promising the labor leaders that it will persuade the Common Market countries in Europe to advance their wage rates and thus lessen the cost differential with Amercan steel products. But that's a long way off. In the meantime, the Europeans are at an advantage in at least 20 per cent of the market for steel products in this country. Eventually, the steelworkers will more and more feel this pinch. That's why their leaders couldn't justify demands for further increases in wages at this time. They saw the handwriting on the wall.

How long the labor leaders will continue to be impressed by these stark facts doesn't depend on the Kennedy administration's promises, but on whether these same union officials can hold their posts without winning substantial wage increases for their constituents in every new contract. For the latest steel settlement has not solved the real problem —it has merely postponed the solution for about 12 months, when everyone will take another look at the situation. If recovery is on at full swing by that time, there will be wage increases granted. If another recession is on, there will be gloom in the labor-union ranks and maybe some new leaders at the helm.

MINORITY BLUES — Sen. Norris Cotton, New Hampshire Republican, was bemoaning the disadvantages of being a representative of a minority political party in Congress. After ticking off a number of annoyances, Cotton remarked that not the least of them was the necessity to learn all about Democratic programs in which he did not have the slightest interest.

This in turn reminded Cotton of the story about Little Jimmy who had received a book on penguins from his grandmother. After she had repeatedly asked him if he had read the book, Jimmy finally did. The next time she asked, he replied: "Yes, Grandma, and now I know more about penguins than I ever wanted to."

CONFERENCES — Anyone who has watched President Kennedy's conduct of his press conferences on television appreciates the hubbub and confusion that they cause among the reporters as well as with the President himself.

Upwards of 300 members of the press attend these gatherings, and Kennedy is faced with split-second decisions not only on his answers but on whom to recognize next.

Some of the male reporters representing the wire services, radio and television and the larger daily newspapers are well known to the President and they win recognition frequently. Some of the ladies are also well known to Mr. Kennedy because of their off-beat or caustic questions.

One lady member of the Fourth Estate, however, failed to win recognition at a recent press conference, despite strong urgings from her editor that Kennedy's reaction was essential to a story she was working on.

The following week, the lady reporter tried again and was successful, although it was the first time she had ever been given the floor for a question at a presidential press conference. Asked how she did it, the resourceful lady replied that on her first attempt she was wearing a dull green tweed suit, and felt she had failed to catch the President's eye.

Therefore, she said, the second time around, she wore a shocking pink dress.

President Pulled Punches In His Message On Consumer Protection

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Medicine means as much to the President of the United States these days as it does to the average American. For instance, one of the family of steriods which President Kennedy takes for his troublesome back is Prednisone, which is manufactured by McKesson-Robbins for $8.99 per thousand 5-miligram tablets, then sold to the druggist for $170 and to the consumer for $225.

So when Sen. Estes Kefauver went down to the White House to talk to advisers who were writing the President's consumer message to Congress, he should have struck a responsive note.

Kefauver, however, didn't get very far. The White House staff would not go for the most important part of the Kefauver bill aimed at reducing the high price of drugs. This is the provision which requires drug patents to be leased to other drug manufacturers on a royalty basis after three years of exclusive use.

The automobile industry shares new inventions with competitors, but not the drug industry. Where pain and suffering are involved, the drug industry is nowhere near as progressive as other industries, and the Tennessee Senator during 28 months of hearings showed how how some of the most important new drugs had been sold to the public at shocking prices. The corner drugstore was not to blame, rather the patents of the big drug companies.

In the antibiotics field, Kefauver showed that various antibiotics cost only 1.7 cents to make, but are sold to the druggist for 30 cents and to the public for 50 cents.

He showed that a thousand 0.25 miligram reserpine tablets, the generic name for a widely used sedative and tranquilizer, cost McKesson and Robbins only 63 cents to make, but are sold to druggists for $39.50 and to the consumer for $65.83.

McKesson and Robbins' annual sales, incidentally, run around $670,000,000.

However, the White House staff felt that the heart of the Kefauver bill — the patent-sharing provision — was too controversial for President Kennedy. So he ducked this in his consumer message to Congress.

It's Up To JFK

The President still faces a showdown over drugs, however. For whether or not the Kefauver drug bill passes will depend largely on the White House.

Thanks to clever footwork by the big drug companies, some of whom contributed thousands of dollars to election campaigns, the Kefauver bill has been shunted to the Patents Commitee headed by deliberate Sen. "Honest John" McClellan of Arkansas. It was voted there at the motion of astute Sen. Everet McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, whose constituents include executives of the giant Olin Mathieson industrial combine and its subsidiary, Squibbs. Together they contributed $100,000 to the Republican campaign chest in 1956, the last year adequate campaign accounts were kept.

Four Southern Democrats voted with them: Eastland (Miss.) who is suffering from the gout; Olin Johnston (S. C.) who usually votes with the consumer; Judge Ervin (N. C.) who has been drifting away from the consumer of late; and McClellan.

The President's consumer message to Congress came one day after the Judiciary Committee voted, and a few discreet phone calls from the White House unquestionably could now push the drug bill through the Senate.

JFK And Tammany

JFK hasn't been getting along with Tammany Hall in New York for some time. He helped squeeze Tammany boss Carmine de Sapio out of the wigwam. He served notice on Mike Pendergast that he would have to resign. But when it came to getting his tax bill passed by Congress last week, Kennedy didn't hesitate to phone Congressman Charley Buckley, a New York Tammany leader. Buckley, in turn, was able to switch 15 defecting New York Democrats back in line in favor of the tax bill.

In regard to consumer protection, however, the President pulled his punches.

When running for President, JFK promised to create an Office of the Consumer Counsel, empowered to testify directly before Congress on bills affecting the consumer. But in his consumer message to Congress he retreated. He watered this down to a "council," not a "counsel," which means an unwieldy committee without much force or influence with Congress.

The President also proposed that samples of "publications useful to the consumer" be placed in "at least 100 selected Post Offices." This is peanuts.

There are almost 35,000 Post Offices in the United States, plus more than 9,000 stations and branches.

"Two-thirds of all spending in the economy is by consumers," the President said in his message to Congress. "But they are the only important group in the economy who are not effectively organized, whose views are often not heard."

Yet consumer publications are to be in only 100 Post Offices out of 35,000.

Congressman E. Y. Berry of South Dakota, who attended the recent right-wing Hargis meeting here, wants it made clear he is not a member of the John Birch Society. . . . Congressmen are receiving ominous cards in the mail from disgruntled Army reservists who were called back to active duty against their will. Nothing appears on the card but the date November 6, 1962, and the signature "an activated reservist"—both printed in mourning black. November 6, of course, is election day. . . . No one watches President Kennedy's press conferences on television with a more critical eye than does the President himself. He studies them carefully for flaws that he may be able to correct. . . . Madison Avenue pitchmen are now trying to persuade the Japanese to kick off their getas, the elevated sandals they have worn for centuries, and take to wearing leather shoes. The J. The Anti-Hero

By John Crosby

"The Moviegoer" by Walker Percy was a surprise winner of the National Book Award which has not always been taken by distinguished fiction. This is a fine, dry, urbane, witty book whose hero, Binx Bolling, is the very last and latest word in the anti-hero. But, this particular anti-hero is, as not all of them are, a pretty nice human recognizable guy.

Here's Binx on himself: "I am a model tenant and a model citizen and take pleasure in doing all that is expected of me. My wallet is full of identity cards, library cards, credit cards.

"It is a pleasure to carry out the duties of a citizen and to receive in return a receipt or a neat styrene card with one's name on it, certifying, so to speak, one's right to exist. What satisfaction I take in appearing the first day to get my auto tag and brake sticker! I subscribe to Consumer Reports and as a consequence I own a first class television set, an all but silent air conditioner, and a very long lasting deodorant. My armpits never stink. I pay attention to all spot announcements on the radio about mental health, the seven signs of cancer, and safe driving. Yesterday, a favorite of mine, William Holden, delivered a radio announcement on litterbugs: 'Let's face it,' sad Holden. 'Nobody can do anything about it but you and me.' This is true. I have been careful ever since."

In short, the very model of an anti-hero, somebody to whom things happen rather than somebody who makes things happen. A member of the group — but a happy man. And, what, you ask, does that title "The Moviegoer" mean? Well, if I understand him correctly and I think that I do, this is Mr. Percy's shrewd observation on the nature of our society which, even more than previous societies, is of the stuff dreams are made on. Binx leads a vicarious life, as who of us doesn't. The sign on the marquee of his neighborhood movie house reads: "Where Happiness Costs So Little."

"Other people, so I have read, treasure memorable moments in their lives; the time one climbed the Parthenon at sunrise, the summer night one met a lonely girl in Central Park, and achieved with her a sweet and natural relationship. What I remember is the time John Wayne killed three men with a carbine as he was falling to the dusty street in 'Stagecoach' and the time the kitten found Orson Welles in the doorway of 'The Third Man.'"

What I like about Binx, what sets him off from most of the other anti-heroes, is that he's not a drip, he's not a failure, he's not bitter—a little sad, yes, but not bitter. He's a stockbroker in New Orleans and a successful one. He enjoys making money, defends it as a way of life, and he fits into his community rather well.

Oh, yes, there's an anti-heroine too, the very model of an anti-heroine, named Kate Cutrer, who is terribly neurotic (as modern urban well-brought-up girls are likely to be). In fact, she borders on the psychotic. The action all takes place in one week, a carnival week in New Orleans, and I won't go into the plot because I think you should read the book yourself. It leaves an odd bittersweet flavor.

Where did the anti-hero come from? John Updike's hero in "Rabbit, Run" is supposed to be the classic example. But the anti-hero is older than that. J. P. Marquand's "The Late George Apley" was certainly one as was H. M. Pulham, Esquire, people who let life roll over them.

Like Marquand, Percy has very acute powers of observation of life in our time. Not all his characters let life roll over them, either. There is a prickly Aunt Emily who lets out a magnificent blast toward the close of the book. ("Ours is the only civilization in history which has enshrined mediocrity as its ideal. Others have been corrupt but leave it to us to invent the most undistinguished of corruptions."

But nothing really much happens to the anti-hero and that I think is the nub of his complaint: that life in the affluent society has had all the bumps taken out of it, the adventures, the shocks, until really there's nothing to feel about—except up on the screen where John Wayne is killing three men with a carbine.

Sonic Tranquilizer Helps Calm Fussy Baby

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Slumbertone is a small transistorized speaker powered by a self-containing penlight battery. It produces a constant tone (B flat, one octave below middle C) and is placed in the crib or bed to help calm irritable or fussy infants. It will not work if the baby is ill, wet, or hungry or in infants more than 7 months old.

The unit has been used by two Minneapolis physicians, Dr. Jay R. Olsen and Dr. Edward Nelson, to relax and promote sleep in infants who cry or fuss when put to bed. Calming usually is instantaneous and sleep follows in 30 seconds to 5 minutes in 90 per cent of the babies exposed to the tonal device. This plan tends to take the heat off exasperated parents who are unable to cope with the situation.

The gadget is not necessarily a substitute for holding, rocking, cuddling, humming, or walking the floor. On the other hand, it might work when these time honored methods fail. Many infants fall asleep when noise producing appliances (such as radio or TV) are nearby. The hum and vibration of the car or baby carriage do the same. The tone device does no harm and may be a safer method of relaxing the tot than the use of sedatives or tranquilizers.

Some have suggested that the tone is helpful because it simulates the sound of the mother's heart beat. The unborn child is subject to a variety of sounds that provide a background tone or hum. All of this is speculation. The sound probably conveys the impression that someone is nearby.

The fussy infant usually is one or two months old and the parents are likely to be inexperienced, unsure of themselves, or emotionally unstable. The child senses their tension and becomes irritable. Improvement occurs when the mother and father gain experience and adjust to the responsibility of having a baby in the household.

TOMORROW: Tests for cancer.

PRESSURE REDUCERS

H. V. writes: What are the mechanics of the action of drugs that reduce high blood pressure?

REPLY

Some dilate the smaller arteries, which reduces the force required to squeeze blood through the arterial system. Many of these products also contain sedatives or tranquilizers because the size of the arteries is under the control of the nervous system. Diuretic drugs are useful and lower blood pressure by encouraging the kidneys to eliminate more salt.

EYELID LESION

M. W. writes: I developed a transparent growth on the very edge of my right eyelid. It doesn't pain but I'm worried that it may become larger. Is immediate surgery advised?

REPLY

Consult an ophthalmologist for a diagnosis. It makes good sense to know what kind of growth is present before discussing treatment.

THROAT ZOO

N. R. writes: Does everybody have strep and staph germs in their throats?

REPLY

Most of us have a combination of these and other germs. They are peace loving critters so long as we are strong and the throat remains healthy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Some years ago, Mr. Ben Schulberg was Mr. Big at the Paramount Film Studios, ruling the roost wisely — and autocratically. Then came one of those cyclones that frequently upset things in Hollywood, and in Mr. Schulberg's old chair suddenly sat a man named Katz.

Some days after the upheaval, a young actress met Schulberg at the Brown Derby Restaurant, and caroled, "It's so wonderful seeing you again, Mr. Schulberg."

"I'm no longer Mr. Schulberg," he told her sorrowfully. "I used to be Mr. Schulberg."

The inmates at a well-run loony bin chipped in and bought the new doctor a great big red balloon. "It's to show how much better we like you than the doctor who preceded you," explained the spokesman of the inmates. "Somehow you seem more like one of us."

"My wife," boasted a well-to-do jeweler, "has only one extravagance. She just loves to spend money."

The Railroads And Government

In a talk to the Milwaukee Kiwanis Club the other day, Joseph C. Kauffman, a vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, said that if things keep going the way they've been going in Washington, the way will be opened for the socialization of America's basic industries — with railroads probably the first to succumb.

"Unless the climate for private enterprise in Washington substantially improves . . . the railroad industry will have to be taken over by the government," said Mr. Kauffman. ". . . I would guess that the public utilities would be next in line, because they are a favorite target for our politicians. Beyond that, we can look for the socialization of other basic industries such as steel and coal and banks. This is the way the process went in Great Britain."

While we seriously doubt that there's any immediate likelihood that Mr. Kauffman's dire predictions will come to pass, nevertheless he's talking sense. Any businessman, even the smallest, can tell you at some length about the trend toward ever greater government regulation. Talk to a railroad or utility official about this and you'll have trouble changing the subject. Here's Mr. Kauffman again on the topic: "No other industry has been regulated for so long . . . , and in no instance has the regulation been so pervasive. We have been the prototype for that great experiment of business status which must be characterized as half free and half slave."

More specifically, he pointed out that the railroad industry is still regulated as a monopoly even though it has plenty of competition for every ton of freight it carries. It may not reduce its rates without approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. It has very little control of its wage costs.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Liberals Vs. Conservatives

Roger C. Dunn, who for a number of years has been surveying and analyzing the American electorate, holds that: "No national party has championed the traditional constitutional concept of American government for over twenty years." He also holds that: "Under the gilded banners of 'liberal,' 'me-too' and 'modern,' the American people have been led far into a welfare-socialist state." His view is that the conservatives have failed because they have, in effect, been unable to state their case; that is, the case for traditional Constitutional government.

I fear that Dunn over-simplifies his problem, for to state it accurately and with some relationship to the realities of the current situation, he must define how he would apply his concept of the American Constitutional government to the manufacture and cost of the rockets and the social consequences of unemployment.

The climactic shift in the American view of government occurred in 1929, but it had been in the making prior to that since the Civil War.

Had William Jennings Bryan and the Populist Party won in 1896, many of the sharp changes which subsequently occurred would undoubtedly have started. And Mark Hanna, who managed our government during the two McKinley Administrations, might have found himself in major difficulties were it not for the invention of a chemical means for increasing the gold supply, producing an unusual prosperity. Nevertheless there were strikes and a demand for an eight-hour day and a "full dinner pail" in the 1900 campaign.

It was World War I which forced upon this country startling changes because it was essential, if we went to war at all, for the government to expand its controls over hte economy and the people. The war did not last long and many of the controls were swiftly liquidated, but the pattern of governmental expansion of power remained. The control over the flow of money through the Federal Reserve System and the habit of subsidizing industry for proper performance of government contracts provided a pattern from which we have not moved far. World War II nearly turned us into a fascist state.

What can be said is that economic depression and war are largely responsible for changes in the attitude of the American people toward government. The politicians, in or out of office, can only deal with what they have before them. They are technicians. They are required by their positions to balance one immediate problem against another immediate problem.

Other factors for change in this country have been the increase in population in large cities, the change-over from rural to urban occupations, the granting of political equality to women, the increased organization of labor, the movement of Negroes from South to North and many similar reasons.

The two-party system will collapse, it is true, unless the Republicans cease to be a mere vehicle for electing candidates and produce some beliefs and ideals. The 1960 Platform of the Republican Party is an absurd document, prepared without any relationship to the historic ideals of the party and with no forward look. Richard Nixon had a wonderful opportunity to produce an exciting leadership but he was apparently talked out of it by his associates or by his impossible position, for if he spoke frankly, he would have had to criticize President Eisenhower, which he obviously could not do. It was not until Barry Goldwater took hold that the Republican Party generated ideas which could be histroically its own and then a conservative movement got rolling.

The Republicans have not absorbed the conservatives nor have the conservatives managed to produce any outstanding leadership other than Goldwater thus far. It is not so much bloc voting that is damaging the Republican Party, it is its inability to oppose by defining its terms. At any rate, during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, there were powerful voices in the Republican Party—Herbert Hoover, Robert A. Taft, Joe McCarthy, Styles Bridges and, to an extent, Thomas E. Dewey. These voices no longer speak. In their stead are the "modern" Republicans who want to be elected but will not say why they should be. Senator Jacob Javits, at any rate, has dropped the word "modern" and uses the word, "progressive." He is a progressive Republican without definition. It would be interesting to note whether he can produce a definition. I, for one, would like to wrestle with it.

Let's Not Applaud Steel Settlement Too Soon

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Over in England they have been calling it "the pause" — a temporary restraint on wages and prices. Maybe in America the new settlement between the steel companies and the unions could be called "the standstill," but this would apply only to the halt of increases in hourly wage rates. For the steel industry is going to have to pay out approximately $100,000,000 per year in so-called "fringe benefits."

Also, in less than 12 months, the steel unions will be demanding an increase in wages, as they will have the right to reopen the contract in July 1963. Thus, while they forego a wage rise for the time being, they can insist upon it and bring about a strike, if they wish, a year from June 30 next.

Whenever a strike has been averted for the time being, however, there's a tendency to applaud. This time there is already an inclination to credit the Kennedy administration with a substantial achievement. But this, unhappily, is only a way to gloss over some unpleasant facts.

For the truth is that the steelworkers didn't get a wage increase this time for the same reason that the steel companies didn't dare to raise their prices after the 1959-60 strike. Politics or White House pressure wasn't the decisive factor. The better way to describe what has just happened in the current negotiations is to say that the facts of economic life have at last caught up with the wishful thinkers. If the labor unions have learned a lesson, then real progress can be said to have been made.

The facts show that neither the steel managements nor the labor unions have as much flexibility today as they have had before. The steel companies face some stiff competition at home from comparable products, and they face a continuing loss of markets to steelmakers abroad, who can ship even to this country and undersell American steel because wage costs are much lower in Europe than in America.

The public was led to believe last autumn that the steel companies didn't raise prices just because the President asked them not to do so. Mr. Kennedy himself would be the first, however, to concede that the main reason was that the steel companies couldn't keep an important part of their markets if they raised prices.

These same facts, of course, were hammered home currently to the steel-union leaders, and Secretary Goldberg did play an influential part in convincing the unions that they had gone about as far as present conditions will allow.

As for price-raising in the future, there will indeed be some. Little publicity will be given to the matter, and the increases will be "selective" — in those categories where competition isn't so keen and where specialization in product can be a helpful factor in making sales at higher prices.

The unfavorable aspect of the whole situation, on the other hand, is on the employment side. Now that there is to be no strike, the artificial rise in steel production, resulting from the recent increase in inventories, will be ended. Production will go down again and hours of work will also be decreased. This is a penalty that grows out of the tactics of labor unions when they constantly demand the maximum in wages and threaten strikes. In 1959 they forced a big strike, the losses from which the workers will be unable for a long time to recover in their pay envelopes.

There will be a good deal of "gobbledygook" heard, too, about how the new "guidelines" or standards of "productivity" have been followed in the steel settlement now being made. The fact is that the cost of the fringe benefits will exceed current "productivity" gains, and the companies will for a long time be trying to absorb the 30-cents-an-hour increase—far above "productivity"—which was added to wage contracts during the last three years.

The administration, of course, is promising the labor leaders that it will persuade the Common Market countries in Europe to advance their wage rates and thus lessen the cost differential with Amercan steel products. But that's a long way off. In the meantime, the Europeans are at an advantage in at least 20 per cent of the market for steel products in this country. Eventually, the steelworkers will more and more feel this pinch. That's why their leaders couldn't justify demands for further increases in wages at this time. They saw the handwriting on the wall.

How long the labor leaders will continue to be impressed by these stark facts doesn't depend on the Kennedy administration's promises, but on whether these same union officials can hold their posts without winning substantial wage increases for their constituents in every new contract. For the latest steel settlement has not solved the real problem —it has merely postponed the solution for about 12 months, when everyone will take another look at the situation. If recovery is on at full swing by that time, there will be wage increases granted. If another recession is on, there will be gloom in the labor-union ranks and maybe some new leaders at the helm.

Congressman E. Y. Berry of South Dakota, who attended the recent right-wing Hargis meeting here, wants it made clear he is not a member of the John Birch Society. . . . Congressmen are receiving ominous cards in the mail from disgruntled Army reservists who were called back to active duty against their will. Nothing appears on the card but the date November 6, 1962, and the signature "an activated reservist"—both printed in mourning black. November 6, of course, is election day. . . . No one watches President Kennedy's press conferences on television with a more critical eye than does the President himself. He studies them carefully for flaws that he may be able to correct. . . . Madison Avenue pitchmen are now trying to persuade the Japanese to kick off their getas, the elevated sandals they have worn for centuries, and take to wearing leather shoes. The J. Walter Thompson advertising agency is running the campaign, which has already increased the sale of leather goods in Japan by 19 per cent.

The Anti-Hero

By John Crosby

"The Moviegoer" by Walker Percy was a surprise winner of the National Book Award which has not always been taken by distinguished fiction. This is a fine, dry, urbane, witty book whose hero, Binx Bolling, is the very last and latest word in the anti-hero. But, this particular anti-hero is, as not all of them are, a pretty nice human recognizable guy.

Here's Binx on himself: "I am a model tenant and a model citizen and take pleasure in doing all that is expected of me. My wallet is full of identity cards, library cards, credit cards.

"It is a pleasure to carry out the duties of a citizen and to receive in return a receipt or a neat styrene card with one's name on it, certifying, so to speak, one's right to exist. What satisfaction I take in appearing the first day to get my auto tag and brake sticker! I subscribe to Consumer Reports and as a consequence I own a first class television set, an all but silent air conditioner, and a very long lasting deodorant. My armpits never stink. I pay attention to all spot announcements on the radio about mental health, the seven signs of cancer, and safe driving. Yesterday, a favorite of mine, William Holden, delivered a radio announcement on litterbugs: 'Let's face it,' sad Holden. 'Nobody can do anything about it but you and me.' This is true. I have been careful ever since."

In short, the very model of an anti-hero, somebody to whom things happen rather than somebody who makes things happen. A member of the group — but a happy man. And, what, you ask, does that title "The Moviegoer" mean? Well, if I understand him correctly and I think that I do, this is Mr. Percy's shrewd observation on the nature of our society which, even more than previous societies, is of the stuff dreams are made on. Binx leads a vicarious life, as who of us doesn't. The sign on the marquee of his neighborhood movie house reads: "Where Happiness Costs So Little."

"Other people, so I have read, treasure memorable moments in their lives; the time one climbed the Parthenon at sunrise, the summer night one met a lonely girl in Central Park, and achieved with her a sweet and natural relationship. What I remember is the time John Wayne killed three men with a carbine as he was falling to the dusty street in 'Stagecoach' and the time the kitten found Orson Welles in the doorway of 'The Third Man.'"

What I like about Binx, what sets him off from most of the other anti-heroes, is that he's not a drip, he's not a failure, he's not bitter—a little sad, yes, but not bitter. He's a stockbroker in New Orleans and a successful one. He enjoys making money, defends it as a way of life, and he fits into his community rather well.

Oh, yes, there's an anti-heroine too, the very model of an anti-heroine, named Kate Cutrer, who is terribly neurotic (as modern urban well-brought-up girls are likely to be). In fact, she borders on the psychotic. The action all takes place in one week, a carnival week in New Orleans, and I won't go into the plot because I think you should read the book yourself. It leaves an odd bittersweet flavor.

Where did the anti-hero come from? John Updike's hero in "Rabbit, Run" is supposed to be the classic example. But the anti-hero is older than that. J. P. Marquand's "The Late George Apley" was certainly one as was H. M. Pulham, Esquire, people who let life roll over them.

Like Marquand, Percy has very acute powers of observation of life in our time. Not all his characters let life roll over them, either. There is a prickly Aunt Emily who lets out a magnificent blast toward the close of the book. ("Ours is the only civilization in history which has enshrined mediocrity as its ideal. Others have been corrupt but leave it to us to invent the most undistinguished of corruptions."

But nothing really much happens to the anti-hero and that I think is the nub of his complaint: that life in the affluent society has had all the bumps taken out of it, the adventures, the shocks, until really there's nothing to feel about—except up on the screen where John Wayne is killing three men with a carbine.

Sonic Tranquilizer Helps Calm Fussy Baby

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Slumbertone is a small transistorized speaker powered by a self-containing penlight battery. It produces a constant tone (B flat, one octave below middle C) and is placed in the crib or bed to help calm irritable or fussy infants. It will not work if the baby is ill, wet, or hungry or in infants more than 7 months old.

The unit has been used by two Minneapolis physicians, Dr. Jay R. Olsen and Dr. Edward Nelson, to relax and promote sleep in infants who cry or fuss when put to bed. Calming usually is instantaneous and sleep follows in 30 seconds to 5 minutes in 90 per cent of the babies exposed to the tonal device. This plan tends to take the heat off exasperated parents who are unable to cope with the situation.

The gadget is not necessarily a substitute for holding, rocking, cuddling, humming, or walking the floor. On the other hand, it might work when these time honored methods fail. Many infants fall asleep when noise producing appliances (such as radio or TV) are nearby. The hum and vibration of the car or baby carriage do the same. The tone device does no harm and may be a safer method of relaxing the tot than the use of sedatives or tranquilizers.

Some have suggested that the tone is helpful because it simulates the sound of the mother's heart beat. The unborn child is subject to a variety of sounds that provide a background tone or hum. All of this is speculation. The sound probably conveys the impression that someone is nearby.

The fussy infant usually is one or two months old and the parents are likely to be inexperienced, unsure of themselves, or emotionally unstable. The child senses their tension and becomes irritable. Improvement occurs when the mother and father gain experience and adjust to the responsibility of having a baby in the household.

TOMORROW: Tests for cancer.

PRESSURE REDUCERS

H. V. writes: What are the mechanics of the action of drugs that reduce high blood pressure?

REPLY

Some dilate the smaller arteries, which reduces the force required to squeeze blood through the arterial system. Many of these products also contain sedatives or tranquilizers because the size of the arteries is under the control of the nervous system. Diuretic drugs are useful and lower blood pressure by encouraging the kidneys to eliminate more salt.

EYELID LESION

M. W. writes: I developed a transparent growth on the very edge of my right eyelid. It doesn't pain but I'm worried that it may become larger. Is immediate surgery advised?

REPLY

Consult an ophthalmologist for a diagnosis. It makes good sense to know what kind of growth is present before discussing treatment.

THROAT ZOO

N. R. writes: Does everybody have strep and staph germs in their throats?

REPLY

Most of us have a combination of these and other germs. They are peace loving critters so long as we are strong and the throat remains healthy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Some years ago, Mr. Ben Schulberg was Mr. Big at the Paramount Film Studios, ruling the roost wisely — and autocratically. Then came one of those cyclones that frequently upset things in Hollywood, and in Mr. Schulberg's old chair suddenly sat a man named Katz.

Some days after the upheaval, a young actress met Schulberg at the Brown Derby Restaurant, and caroled, "It's so wonderful seeing you again, Mr. Schulberg."

"I'm no longer Mr. Schulberg," he told her sorrowfully. "I used to be Mr. Schulberg."

The inmates at a well-run loony bin chipped in and bought the new doctor a great big red balloon. "It's to show how much better we like you than the doctor who preceded you," explained the spokesman of the inmates. "Somehow you seem more like one of us."

"My wife," boasted a well-to-do jeweler, "has only one extravagance. She just loves to spend money."

He said the union was asking an increase of 35 cents for glaziers for the next two years. The company offered 20 cents. Glaziers had been receiving $3.50 an hour.

The union also asked for a 32½ cent increase for warehousemen. The company offered 12½.

Safety Men Tour Mill

Members of the Western Maryland Safety Engineering Society toured the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper after a dinner meeting at the Westvaco Club Thursday.

Kenneth Grace, finishing department superintendent, welcomed the society, and Harris W. LeFew, assistant manager of public relations at the mill, outlined the history of the parent mill of the company, which was established in 1863 and has since become one of the largest producers of fine papers in the world.

He explained that the five-year expansion program now nearing completion at the mill will increase production of 1,000 tons of paper a day. Two new paper machines alone will produce a mile of paper 20 feet wide every two minutes.

Guides for the tour were provided by the mill's public relations, safety and plant supervisory personnel.

All Out Search Under Way For State Trooper

Lt. Lewis, 44-year-old commander of the North East barrack and an expert waterman, has been missing since Sunday afternoon, when he took a 20-foot outboard motorboat to empty a fish net on the Sassafras River.

Boats of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission helped with a dragging operation on the river. Five skin divers with lighting equipment were sent to the scene and five more were expected to join them.

At State Police Headquarters in Pikesville, Maj. G. E. Davidson, field force commander, said: "The dragging operation will be continued until we find the body."

Maj. Davidson said the men were searching a very large area of the river, which separates Cecil County from Kent County. "Since it was a very high tide and a very high sea, and the boat drifted quite a way, it's conceivable the body could have done the same," he said.

Lewis' wife, Katherine, called the barrack last night after her husband failed to return to their home near Hacks Point. His boat was found at 1 a.m. Monday, deserted and adrift, on the western shore of Ordinary Point, where State Police believe Lewis cast off.

He had gone to empty a net he had staked in the water. Some fish were found in the drifting boat. The river was rough and wind-whipped Sunday.

Lt. Lewis had been cited for heroism three times for rescues of seven persons on Chesapeake Bay and had received 10 commendations or citations, in all, for his police work.

Born at Wingate in Dorchester County, he is the father of a married daughter and a 6-year-old son. He has been a state policeman since 1942 and assumed command at North East in August, 1960.

Opening lead: Six of ♣

The hand shown today was one which was encountered by Sam Stayman at about the time we became teammates representing the United States in the World's Championship Contest in Paris. It occurred in our own national championships.

Stayman never has been known as a "rocking chair player," as may become evident from the report you are about to read. In a match against the leading team at a time when he considered that circumstances called for some affirmative action, he perpetrated an effective bit of strategy that gained for his team sufficient points to assure victory in this pivotal contest and ultimately the championship.

With no one vulnerable, North opened with one club. Stayman, sitting East, passed and South responded naturally enough with a bid of one spade, which the opener raised to two. South with 11 points in high cards decided that a further bid by him was indicated and chose three clubs, hoping that this might induce his partner to make an attempt at no trump or to proceed to game in spades.

North decided to cooperate mildly by bidding three diamonds, hoping that strength in that suit was what South needed. The latter now chose to call three hearts, suggesting a stopper in that suit. It was to North's credit that he refrained from bidding three no trump, but instead returned to three spades. He felt that he had already bid up to the full strength of his hand. South now looked at his hand thru rose colored glasses and proceeded to four spades. Stayman appeared from nowhere and suggested that the hand be played for doubled stakes.

The contract was defeated two tricks for a score of 300 points, which was more than the margin by which this match was determined. Stayman, who had wielded his feather duster as tho it were a mallet, was asked what induced him to double. He pointed out that he had relied on two of his senses, hearing and smell. It did not seem to him that the opposition had bid with great confidence. He felt a consciousness of groping on their part, and he considered it highly likely that his partner had a singleton club.

The result was far reaching, but I think that even Stayman would hesitate to recommend this type of action for use by the gentle reader.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The man I love is married to someone else. He has tried to get free but his wife is a terrible woman. He's been begging her for a divorce for eight years but she is very tricky. She keeps telling him that broken homes are bad for children and all that rot. I say if parents don't get along together it is better for the kids if they split up.

I want to surprise my sweetheart with a divorce as a gift, but I don't know how to go about it. I have money of my own and I know a very good lawyer. He is expensive but he wins an awful lot of cases.

Please tell me how to go about this. —OFF THE HEART.

DEAR OFF: Well — there IS something new under the sun. Wait till the gift catalogues get wind of this: "For the man who has everything—Surprise him with a divorce."

Wake up and smell the coffee, Stupid. He's been handing you a line for eight years. If the man really wanted a divorce you wouldn't have to surprise him with one — gift-wrapped yet.

Since you're in such a generous mood why don't you give this cheater back to his wife and kids?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've helped so many people with their worries and problems I wonder if you can help some close friends of ours.

They haven't filed an income tax return for the last few years. They have a large family and thought they didn't owe anything because of the many deductions they had coming.

Finally they were afraid to file for fear of being sent to jail or slapped with a heavy fine. Now they live in fear of being found out and they don't know which way to turn.

Please print this letter and tell these people where to go and also if anything will happen to them—like a fine or a jail sentence.

—ANONYMOUS NATURALLY

DEAR ANONYMOUS: These people should look in the telephone directory under U.S. Government and find the Internal Revenue Service. They should then make an appointment with an official and tell him everything.

The person who turns himself in has a much better chance of getting a lighter fine (or no fine) and it is unlikely that he would be put in jail.

Urge your friends to act promptly. If they are caught (and they will be) they can expect the book to be thrown at them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You owe an apology to the decent people who work in the field of public relations.

Recently you printed a letter from a girl who was engaged to a P.R. man. She wrote: "When Tom takes me to civic affairs or social gatherings I find myself alone 90 per cent of the time. He is busy table-hopping and backslapping. He calls this winning friends and influencing people. The wind-up was that Tom left his girl at the banquet hall and she signed her letter "Stranded."

By printing such a letter you picture the P.R. person as a phony glad-hander and irresponsible jerk.

Tom wouldn't last two weeks with our firm. His private relations, as well as his public relations, leave much to be desired.

— INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGANAT: YOUR Public Relations are much more effective than Tom's. You got this letter in 525 newspapers, and did a nice P.R. job for the public relations industry.

CONFIDENTIAL TO A. L. S.: Sorry I did not receive it. There is a law against what you implied and I am not about to take a chance on jail for 23 cents.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Safety Men Tour Mill

Members of the Western Maryland Safety Engineering Society toured the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper after a dinner meeting at the Westvaco Club Thursday.

Kenneth Grace, finishing department superintendent, welcomed the society, and Harris W. LeFew, assistant manager of public relations at the mill, outlined the history of the parent mill of the company, which was established in 1888 and has since become one of the largest producers of fine papers in the world.

He explained that the five-year expansion program now nearing completion at the mill will increase production of 1,000 tons of paper a day. Two new paper machines alone will produce a mile of paper 20 feet wide every two minutes.

Guides for the tour were provided by the mill's public relations, safety and plant supervisory personnel.

All Out Search Under Way For State Trooper

Lt. Lewis, 44-year-old commander of the North East barrack and an expert waterman, has been missing since Sunday afternoon, when he took a 20-foot outboard motorboat to empty a fish net on the Sassafras River.

Boats of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission helped with a dragging operation on the river. Five skin divers with lighting equipment were sent to the scene and five more were expected to join them.

At State Police Headquarters in Pikesville, Maj. G. E. Davidson, field force commander, said: "The dragging operation will be continued until we find the body."

Maj. Davidson said the men were searching a very large area of the river, which separates Cecil County from Kent County. "Since it was a very high tide and a very high sea, and the boat drifted quite a way, it's conceivable the body could have done the same," he said.

Lewis' wife, Katherine, called the barrack last night after her husband failed to return to their home near Hacks Point. His boat was found at 1 a.m. Monday, deserted and adrift, on the western shore of Ordinary Point, where State Police believe Lewis cast off.

He had gone to empty a net he had staked in the water. Some fish were found in the drifting boat. The river was rough and wind-whipped Sunday.

Lt. Lewis had been cited for heroism three times for rescues of seven persons on Chesapeake Bay and had received 10 commendations or citations, in all, for his police work.

Born at Wingate in Dorchester County, he is the father of a married daughter and a 6-year-old son. He has been a state policeman since 1942 and assumed command at North East in August, 1960.

Opening lead: Six of ♣

The hand shown today was one which was encountered by Sam Stayman at about the time we became teammates representing the United States in the World's Championship Contest in Paris. It occurred in our own national championships.

Stayman never has been known as a "rocking chair player," as may become evident from the report you are about to read. In a match against the leading team at a time when he considered that circumstances called for some affirmative action, he perpetrated an effective bit of strategy that gained for his team sufficient points to assure victory in this pivotal contest and ultimately the championship.

With no one vulnerable, North opened with one club. Stayman, sitting East, passed and South responded naturally enough with a bid of one spade, which the opener raised to two. South with 11 points in high cards decided that a further bid by him was indicated and chose three clubs, hoping that this might induce his partner to make an attempt at no trump or to proceed to game in spades.

North decided to coöperate mildly by bidding three diamonds, hoping that strength in that suit was what South needed. The latter now chose to call three hearts, suggesting a stopper in that suit. It was to North's credit that he refrained from bidding three no trump, but instead returned to three spades. He felt that he had already bid up to the full strength of his hand. South now looked at his hand thru rose colored glasses and proceeded to four spades. Stayman appeared from nowhere and suggested that the hand be played for doubled stakes.

The contract was defeated two tricks for a score of 300 points, which was more than the margin by which this match was determined. Stayman, who had wielded his feather duster as tho it were a mallet, was asked what induced him to double. He pointed out that he had relied on two of his senses, hearing and smell. It did not seem to him that the opposition had bid with great confidence. He felt a consciousness of groping on their part, and he considered it highly likely that his partner had a singleton club.

The result was far reaching, but I think that even Stayman would hesitate to recommend this type of action for use by the gentle reader.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The man I love is married to someone else. He has tried to get free but his wife is a terrible woman. He's been begging her for a divorce for eight years but she is very tricky. She keeps telling him that broken homes are bad for children and all that rot. I say if parents don't get along together it is better for the kids if they split up.

I want to surprise my sweetheart with a divorce as a gift, but I don't know how to go about it. I have money of my own and I know a very good lawyer. He is expensive but he wins an awful lot of cases.

Please tell me how to go about this. —OFF THE HEART.

DEAR OFF: Well — there IS something new under the sun. Wait till the gift catalogues get wind of this: "For the man who has everything—Surprise him with a divorce."

Wake up and smell the coffee, Stupid. He's been handing you a line for eight years. If the man really wanted a divorce you wouldn't have to surprise him with one — gift-wrapped yet.

Since you're in such a generous mood why don't you give this cheater back to his wife and kids?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've helped so many people with their worries and problems I wonder if you can help some close friends of ours.

They haven't filed an income tax return for the last few years. They have a large family and thought they didn't owe anything because of the many deductions they had coming.

Finally they were afraid to file for fear of being sent to jail or slapped with a heavy fine. Now they live in fear of being found out and they don't know which way to turn.

Please print this letter and tell these people where to go and also if anything will happen to them—like a fine or a jail sentence.

—ANONYMOUS NATURALLY

DEAR ANONYMOUS: These people should look in the telephone directory under U.S. Government and find the Internal Revenue Service. They should then make an appointment with an official and tell him everything.

The person who turns himself in has a much better chance of getting a lighter fine (or no fine) and it is unlikely that he would be put in jail.

Urge your friends to act promptly. If they are caught (and they will be) they can expect the book to be thrown at them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You owe an apology to the decent people who work in the field of public relations.

Recently you printed a letter from a girl who was engaged to a P.R. man. She wrote: "When Tom takes me to civic affairs or social gatherings I find myself alone 90 per cent of the time. He is busy table-hopping and backslapping. He calls this winning friends and influencing people. The wind-up was that Tom left his girl at the banquet hall and she signed her letter "Stranded."

By printing such a letter you picture the P.R. person as a phony glad-hander and irresponsible jerk.

— INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGANAT: YOUR Public Relations are much more effective than Tom's. You got this letter in 525 newspapers, and did a nice P.R. job for the public relations industry.

CONFIDENTIAL TO A. L. S.: Sorry I did not receive it. There is a law against what you implied and I am not about to take a chance on jail for 28 cents.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Motorcyclists Vie In Two-Star Hill Climb April 15

Free State Riders Plan Four Events

Cline Farm In Wiley Ford Is Site; Prize Money Is Tops Here

Outstanding slant riders from at least five states and Canada are expected to vie when the Free State Riders Motorcycle Club, Inc., holds the opening hill-climbing program of the year in this section on Sunday, April 15, it was announced yesterday.

The climb will be a Two-Star Class A affair and will be staged on the Cline Farm Hill at Wiley Ford, W. Va., one mile south of Cumberland. Prize money will exceed that of any motorcycle hill climbing program staged here in the past, according to the promoters.

There will be four events on the card, namely, two Class A and two Class B, and the first is set to get under way at 2 p.m.

The Free State Riders Motorcycle Clube made its debut as a hill climbing promoter July 23, 1961, and Pennsylvanians took three of the four events on the program staged at the Cline Farm. Vic Salvador, Charles Jacobs and Gordon Mitzell were the Keystone Staters who emerged as victors. The other winner was Tom Reiser, of Columbus, Ohio. Approximately 1,000 persons attended.

Beese Wendt, of York, Pa., won the two Class B tests and Gordon Mitzell, York, Pa., and Joseph W. Hemmis, Cumberland, were the Class A winners in the first hill climb held here last May on Eastman Road.

SET FOR COMEBACK—Halfback Frank Gifford, 31, ended a one-year retirement yesterday by signing to play for the New York Giants of the National Football League. Gifford, who quit at the end of 1960, was signed for close to the $25,000 he received before retirement. (AP Photofax)

Frank Gifford Signs Contract With New York

Giants' Halfback Ends Retirement

NEW YORK (UPI) —Frank Gifford, six-times an all-pro halfback, ended a one-year retirement Monday and signed with the New York football Giants for "pretty close" to the $25,000 he was paid before he quit at the end of the 1960 season.

A record-setting ball-toter and pass receiver for the Giants for nine seasons, the handsome Gifford, now 31, retired to pursue a year-round career in radio broadcasting and served as chief scout for the Giants last year. He has severed his radio connections.

"Retiring was a big mistake," Gifford said. "There's still plenty of football left in me, I'm sure. Probably I'm not as strong as I was after laying off a year but I'm at my old playing weight (196) and back in football as long as I can stay as a player."

A severe tackle by linebacker Chuck Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles on Nov. 20, 1960 brought the first phase of Gifford's pro career to a close. The Giant star suffered a concussion and spent 12 days in a hospital. He never played another game for the Giants, though he denied when he first retired that the Bednarik episode had influenced his decision.

Club President John V. Mara said Gifford's 1962 salary would be "pretty close" to his top pay in 1960 but pointed out the Giants will be playing two more league games than they did two season ago. Gifford was one of the league's highest paid players when he quit.

"We're glad to have him back," said head coach Allie Sherman.

"He won't be a quarterback, sure," said Sherman, who lost 41-year-old quarterback Charlie Conerly through a retirement several weeks ago. "Frank will play at his strong positions and we won't try to make a quarterback out of him."

He still holds three club records —scoring (370 points), most touchdowns (59) and most yards rushing (3,674).

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds Monday optioned pitchers Ken Hunt and Jim Maloney to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League subject to 24 - hour recall.

Gene Freese, who broke his ankle in a spring training game March 5, was placed on the disabled list.

Two other players were sent to the minors in order that the National League champions will be able to meet the 28-player limit by opening day, April 9.

Top shortstop prospect Chico Ruiz joined Hunt and Maloney on the 24-hour call list in San Diego. Bob Risenhoover, also a pitcher, was sent to San Diego, the Reds' farm club, on regular option.

Senators Encouraged By Work Of Pitchers

Henry Cooper Stops Erskine

Latter Suffers Cut Left Eyebrow In 9th

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) —Henry Cooper retained his British and Empire heavyweight championship Monday night by technically knocking out Joe Erskine in the ninth round of the fifth bout between the two fighters.

A capacity crowd of 5,000, which paid 14,000 sterling ($39,200), saw Cooper gain his third victory in the personal rivalry by relying heavily on counterpunching, which eventually proved too strong for his Welsh rival.

Sen. Kefauver Says:

Businessmen Are Taking The Fun Out Of Baseball

Reads Excerpts From Article By Furillo

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., told the Senate Monday that he has the disturbed feeling that "the businessmen are taking the fun out of baseball."

The businessmen, he said, "judge a game by the score in the box office, not on the playing field — by the ring of the cash register, not the roar of the crowd."

Kefauver said in a Senate talk that the front offices of major league teams put profits ahead of the players "who are traded, and often treated, like cattle."

In his talk he read excerpts from a magazine article by Carl Furillo, a former big league outfielder, who said that he was summarily dismissed after an injury and then was blackballed by owners for openly opposing his dismissal.

In reading the excerpts from the article, Kefauver said that baseball has suffered "from the appalling absence of humanity in the front office."

General Sessions Judge Joseph A. Sarafito accepted the plea of guilty to one of six counts in an indictment to cover all counts.

La Cort, described by Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan as a New England gambling figure, pleaded guilty to paying $750 to Peter Kelly to shave points in a game between the University of Connecticut and Colgate University March 1, 1960. Kelly was captain of the Connecticut team at the time.

Motorcyclists Vie In Two-Star Hill Climb April 15

Free State Riders Plan Four Events

Cline Farm In Wiley Ford Is Site; Prize Money Is Tops Here

Outstanding slant riders from at least five states and Canada are expected to vie when the Free State Riders Motorcycle Club, Inc., holds the opening hill-climbing program of the year in this section on Sunday, April 15, it was announced yesterday.

The climb will be a Two-Star Class A affair and will be staged on the Cline Farm Hill at Wiley Ford, W. Va., one mile south of Cumberland. Prize money will exceed that of any motorcycle hill climbing program staged here in the past, according to the promoters.

There will be four events on the card, namely, two Class A and two Class B, and the first is set to get under way at 2 p.m.

The Free State Riders Motorcycle Clube made its debut as a hill climbing promoter July 23, 1961, and Pennsylvanians took three of the four events on the program staged at the Cline Farm. Vic Salvador, Charles Jacobs and Gordon Mitzell were the Keystone Staters who emerged as victors. The other winner was Tom Reiser, of Columbus, Ohio. Approximately 1,000 persons attended.

Beese Wendt, of York, Pa., won the two Class B tests and Gordon Mitzell, York, Pa., and Joseph W. Hemmis, Cumberland, were the Class A winners in the first hill climb held here last May on Eastman Road.

SET FOR COMEBACK—Halfback Frank Gifford, 31, ended a one-year retirement yesterday by signing to play for the New York Giants of the National Football League. Gifford, who quit at the end of 1960, was signed for close to the $25,000 he received before retirement. (AP Photofax)

Frank Gifford Signs Contract With New York

Giants' Halfback Ends Retirement

NEW YORK (UPI) —Frank Gifford, six-times an all-pro halfback, ended a one-year retirement Monday and signed with the New York football Giants for "pretty close" to the $25,000 he was paid before he quit at the end of the 1960 season.

A record-setting ball-toter and pass receiver for the Giants for nine seasons, the handsome Gifford, now 31, retired to pursue a year-round career in radio broadcasting and served as chief scout for the Giants last year. He has severed his radio connections.

"Retiring was a big mistake," Gifford said. "There's still plenty of football left in me, I'm sure. Probably I'm not as strong as I was after laying off a year but I'm at my old playing weight (196) and back in football as long as I can stay as a player."

A severe tackle by linebacker Chuck Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles on Nov. 20, 1960 brought the first phase of Gifford's pro career to a close. The Giant star suffered a concussion and spent 12 days in a hospital. He never played another game for the Giants, though he denied when he first retired that the Bednarik episode had influenced his decision.

Club President John V. Mara said Gifford's 1962 salary would be "pretty close" to his top pay in 1960 but pointed out the Giants will be playing two more league games than they did two season ago. Gifford was one of the league's highest paid players when he quit.

"We're glad to have him back," said head coach Allie Sherman.

"He won't be a quarterback, sure," said Sherman, who lost 41-year-old quarterback Charlie Conerly through a retirement several weeks ago. "Frank will play at his strong positions and we won't try to make a quarterback out of him."

Henry Cooper Stops Erskine

Latter Suffers Cut Left Eyebrow In 9th

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) —Henry Cooper retained his British and Empire heavyweight championship Monday night by technically knocking out Joe Erskine in the ninth round of the fifth bout between the two fighters.

A capacity crowd of 5,000, which paid 14,000 sterling ($39,200), saw Cooper gain his third victory in the personal rivalry by relying heavily on counterpunching, which eventually proved too strong for his Welsh rival.

Sen. Kefauver Says:

Businessmen Are Taking The Fun Out Of Baseball

Reads Excerpts From Article By Furillo

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., told the Senate Monday that he has the disturbed feeling that "the businessmen are taking the fun out of baseball."

The businessmen, he said, "judge a game by the score in the box office, not on the playing field — by the ring of the cash register, not the roar of the crowd."

Kefauver said in a Senate talk that the front offices of major league teams put profits ahead of the players "who are traded, and often treated, like cattle."

In his talk he read excerpts from a magazine article by Carl Furillo, a former big league outfielder, who said that he was summarily dismissed after an injury and then was blackballed by owners for openly opposing his dismissal.

Pedro Ramos Traded To Cleveland Indians In Three-Player Deal

Vic Power, Stigman Go To Twins

Minnesota Hurler Lost 20 Games In 1961, Won But 11

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Vic Power, the Cleveland Indians' unhappy first baseman, and pitcher Dick Stigman were traded Monday to the Minnesota Twins for Pedro Ramos, the American League's losingest pitcher last year.

Ramos, a 26-year-old righthander from Cuba, lost a league high of 20 games last season (against 11 victories) and gave up 39 home runs. This was the fourth straight season he had suffered more losses than any other A.L. pitcher.

Power Most Talented

But many managers have felt that Power rarely has played up to his full potential. He has batted over .300 three times during his eight-season major league career, but last year he hit only .268 with only five home runs.

There have been reports this spring from the Indians' training camp at Tucson, Ariz., that Power was unhappy at being shifted to second base. He also was sensitive to criticism of his playing by his managers.

Stigman Shows Promise

To replace Power at first, Mel McGaha, the Indians' new manager, can shift Tito Francona from the outfield, or use Gene Green, a converted catcher.

Stigman, a 26-year-old lefthander, showed promise when he joined the Indians in 1960. He developed arm trouble last year, however, was placed on the disabled list from April 10 to June 5, and wound up with a 2-5 record.

If Tawes Signs Bill:

Betting Tax Increase Is Opposed By Cohen

BALTIMORE (AP) — The owners of Pimlico threatened Monday to put the track up for sale if Gov. Tawes signs a bill increasing the tax on betting.

"That 'for sale' sign will go up at Pimlico the minute the governor signs," Herman Cohen, president of the Maryland Jockey Club, was quoted in the Baltimore News-Post.

Gov. Tawes is due to decide by Friday whether he will approve or veto an increase from 12 to 13 per cent on betting at Maryland's eight thoroughbred tracks.

Also pending before him is another bill to raise the tax at four harness tracks from 15 to 16 per cent. This bill also would change the maximum of 24 nights now allotted to the tracks to a minimum.

Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie, the state's three major thoroughbred tracks, urged Gov. Tawes at a hearing last Friday to veto the bill relating to them.

They had agreed to accept the increased tax if they were allowed to retain one-third of the additional revenue.

But the legislature ignored this agreement and instead enacted a bill to give all the increased take to horsemen in the form of purses.

The three mile tracks also were rebuffed by the legislature in an attempt to increase their number of days from 40 to 52 each. They had contracted to buy Baltimore Raceway, a harness track, and Bel Air, minor throughbred plant, and transfer their 36 days.

Harvard Tossers Defeat Terps, 8-1

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Harvard University opened its baseball season with an 8-1 victory over Maryland Monday as Paul Del Rossi and Dick Garibaldi stopped the Terps on 3 hits.

Harvard wrapped up the triumph with 5 runs in the third inning off Maryland's starting and losing pitcher, sophomore Jack Lund. The Crimson made 5 hits during the rally, including a bunt single, 2 bloopers over the infield, and a grounder through the hole to right field.

Maryland, which has lost 3 straight after opening the season with a victory, scored its only run in the first inning on a walk, a wind-blown double by Tom Brown and a wild pitch by Del Rossi.

Albie Pearson was the hero of the game with a three-run homer off Dodger ace Johnny Podres in the eighth. That tied the score at 5-5.

Terps Offer DeMatha Team Scholarships

Eight Schools Seek Five First Stringers

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland is among several colleges and universities offering basketball scholarships to all five members of the DeMatha High School team, coach Morgan Wooten said Monday.

Two of the starting five players are Negroes—All American prep star John Austin and John Jones.

"Eight schools—St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., Montana, Villanova and Maryland among them—indicate they would give all five starters blanket scholarships," Wooten said.

Two other schools in the south also are willing to break the color line to get Austin and Jones, he said. Maryland currently has no Negro players on its teams.

The other members of the DeMatha squad, which finished the season with a 28-3 record and won both Washington's National Catholic and Newport's Invitational post-season series, are 6-4 Gary Ward, 6-5 Bill McDermott and 6-4 John Carroll.

Wooten said Austin had received 120 scholarship offers, and Jones, Ward, McDonald and Carroll 70, 50, 40 and 12, respectively.

Benny Paret Has Pneumonia

Fighter's Coma Deepens Slightly

NEW YORK (UPI) —Boxer Benny (Kid) Paret, in the ninth day of a coma following his knockout by Emile Griffith, has contracted pneumonia, officials at Roosevelt Hospital disclosed Monday.

In addition, Paret's coma has "deepened slightly," the officials said. Previously the coma had been described as "moderate," although Paret never has regained consciousness since being knocked out by Griffith in the 12th round of the world welterweight championship bout at Madison Square Garden, March 24.

Hospital officials did not picture the pneumonia as a sudden new crisis for Paret, but simply as one more factor now going against him in his long-shot battle for life.

Pedro Ramos Traded To Cleveland Indians In Three-Player Deal

Minnesota Hurler Lost 20 Games In 1961, Won But 11

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Vic Power, the Cleveland Indians' unhappy first baseman, and pitcher Dick Stigman were traded Monday to the Minnesota Twins for Pedro Ramos, the American League's losingest pitcher last year.

Ramos, a 26-year-old righthander from Cuba, lost a league high of 20 games last season (against 11 victories) and gave up 39 home runs. This was the fourth straight season he had suffered more losses than any other A.L. pitcher.

Power Most Talented

Power, 31-year-old native Puerto Rican, long has been regarded one of the most talented players in the league. He is rated a good hitter, has speed, is a good fielder and is versatile.

But many managers have felt that Power rarely has played up to his full potential. He has batted over .300 three times during his eight-season major league career, but last year he hit only .268 with only five home runs.

There have been reports this spring from the Indians' training camp at Tucson, Ariz., that Power was unhappy at being shifted to second base. He also was sensitive to criticism of his playing by his managers.

Stigman Shows Promise

To replace Power at first, Mel McGaha, the Indians' new manager, can shift Tito Francona from the outfield, or use Gene Green, a converted catcher.

Stigman, a 26-year-old lefthander, showed promise when he joined the Indians in 1960. He developed arm trouble last year, however, was placed on the disabled list from April 10 to June 5, and wound up with a 2-5 record.

Police Boys Club's unbeaten pennant winners got off running in the best-of-three final playoffs in the Men's Rec Basketball League last night by turning back Peskin's, 67-57, at Allegany High School gym.

The triumph was the 19th straight for the PBC who finished the season on top of the loop with a 16-0 mark, then copped two straight over the Redmen in the playoff semi-finals.

Merv Pope pumped in 26 points to take scoring honors for the winners, but trailed Junie Perry of Peskin's who tallied 28 in a losing cause for the Shoemen.

The PBC held the edge at the close of each quarter, 21-18, 33-30 and 48-45, finally pulling ahead by 10 points in the fourth period when they outscored Peskin's, 19-12.

If Tawes Signs Bill:

Betting Tax Increase Is Opposed By Cohen

BALTIMORE (AP) — The owners of Pimlico threatened Monday to put the track up for sale if Gov. Tawes signs a bill increasing the tax on betting.

"That 'for sale' sign will go up at Pimlico the minute the governor signs," Herman Cohen, president of the Maryland Jockey Club, was quoted in the Baltimore News-Post.

Gov. Tawes is due to decide by Friday whether he will approve or veto an increase from 12 to 13 per cent on betting at Maryland's eight thoroughbred tracks.

Also pending before him is another bill to raise the tax at four harness tracks from 15 to 16 per cent. This bill also would change the maximum of 24 nights now allotted to the tracks to a minimum.

Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie, the state's three major thoroughbred tracks, urged Gov. Tawes at a hearing last Friday to veto the bill relating to them.

They had agreed to accept the increased tax if they were allowed to retain one-third of the additional revenue.

But the legislature ignored this agreement and instead enacted a bill to give all the increased take to horsemen in the form of purses.

The three mile tracks also were rebuffed by the legislature in an attempt to increase their number of days from 40 to 52 each. They had contracted to buy Baltimore Raceway, a harness track, and Bel Air, minor throughbred plant, and transfer their 36 days.

Harvard Tossers Defeat Terps, 8-1

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Harvard University opened its baseball season with an 8-1 victory over Maryland Monday as Paul Del Rossi and Dick Garibaldi stopped the Terps on 3 hits.

Harvard wrapped up the triumph with 5 runs in the third inning off Maryland's starting and losing pitcher, sophomore Jack Lund. The Crimson made 5 hits during the rally, including a bunt single, 2 bloopers over the infield, and a grounder through the hole to right field.

Maryland, which has lost 3 straight after opening the season with a victory, scored its only run in the first inning on a walk, a wind-blown double by Tom Brown and a wild pitch by Del Rossi.

It will mark the first meeting of the teams in the Pirates' home park since Oct. 13, 1960.

On that memorable day, Pirate second baseman Bill Mazeroski hit a home run in the last of the ninth inning to give Pittsburgh a 10-9 victory and the World Series, four games to three.

The May 14th exhibition will have an 8:15 p.m. starting time.

Angels Edge Dodgers As Ike Watches, 6-5

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels, bidding to become a serious threat against Dodger dominance of southern California baseball, Monday came from behind to win the first exhibition meeting of the teams, 6-5, as former President Eisenhower and an overflow crowd looked on.

Albie Pearson was the hero of the game with a three-run homer off Dodger ace Johnny Podres in the eighth. That tied the score at 5-5.

Terps Offer DeMatha Team Scholarships

Eight Schools Seek Five First Stringers

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland is among several colleges and universities offering basketball scholarships to all five members of the DeMatha High School team, coach Morgan Wooten said Monday.

Two of the starting five players are Negroes—All American prep star John Austin and John Jones.

"Eight schools—St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., Montana, Villanova and Maryland among them—indicate they would give all five starters blanket scholarships," Wooten said.

Two other schools in the south also are willing to break the color line to get Austin and Jones, he said. Maryland currently has no Negro players on its teams.

The other members of the DeMatha squad, which finished the season with a 28-3 record and won both Washington's National Catholic and Newport's Invitational post-season series, are 6-4 Gary Ward, 6-5 Bill McDermott and 6-4 John Carroll.

Wooten said Austin had received 120 scholarship offers, and Jones, Ward, McDonald and Carroll 70, 50, 40 and 12, respectively.

Benny Paret Has Pneumonia

Fighter's Coma Deepens Slightly

NEW YORK (UPI) —Boxer Benny (Kid) Paret, in the ninth day of a coma following his knockout by Emile Griffith, has contracted pneumonia, officials at Roosevelt Hospital disclosed Monday.

In addition, Paret's coma has "deepened slightly," the officials said. Previously the coma had been described as "moderate," although Paret never has regained consciousness since being knocked out by Griffith in the 12th round of the world welterweight championship bout at Madison Square Garden, March 24.

Hospital officials did not picture the pneumonia as a sudden new crisis for Paret, but simply as one more factor now going against him in his long-shot battle for life.

"All treatments are being continued," said the hospital announcement.

Stocks Decline Irregularly As Light Volume Is Noted

The start of the second quarter and widespread expectations of a "spring rally" were not enough to shake traders out of their caution. The initialing of the steel labor agreement seemed to leave the investment community lukewarm.

Although weekly steel production rose slightly, there was talk in the financial community that steel buying will probably slacken now that labor peace seems assured in the industry.

The market was irregular in earlings, then softened. Lack of bids rather than concerted selling was mainly responsible for the drab performance.

Volume sank to 2.79 million shares from 2.95 million Friday and was the smallest since 2.62 million shares changed hands Feb. 12.

The pattern was narrowly mixed among steels, motors, oils, tobaccos and drugs. Utilities, rails chemicals, airlines, rubbers and nonferrous metals were lower.

Losses were mostly fractional. Some of the blue chip chemicals, however, sagged along with higher-priced issues in other groups and a selection of the more volatile issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.10 to 256.90 with industrials off 1.50, rails off .90 to a new low for the year and utilities off .40.

Of 1,273 issues traded, 366 advanced and 652 declined. New highs for the year totaled 22 and new lows 67.

Stocks Decline Irregularly As Light Volume Is Noted

The start of the second quarter and widespread expectations of a "spring rally" were not enough to shake traders out of their caution. The initialing of the steel labor agreement seemed to leave the investment community lukewarm.

Although weekly steel production rose slightly, there was talk in the financial community that steel buying will probably slacken now that labor peace seems assured in the industry.

The market was irregular in earlings, then softened. Lack of bids rather than concerted selling was mainly responsible for the drab performance.

Volume sank to 2.79 million shares from 2.95 million Friday and was the smallest since 2.62 million shares changed hands Feb. 12.

The pattern was narrowly mixed among steels, motors, oils, tobaccos and drugs. Utilities, rails chemicals, airlines, rubbers and nonferrous metals were lower.

Losses were mostly fractional. Some of the blue chip chemicals, however, sagged along with higher-priced issues in other groups and a selection of the more volatile issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.10 to 256.90 with industrials off 1.50, rails off .90 to a new low for the year and utilities off .40.

An estimated 1.6 billion was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in the AP average.

Of 1,273 issues traded, 366 advanced and 652 declined. New highs for the year totaled 22 and new lows 67.

Eight of the 15 most active issues fell, four rose and three were unchanged.

The trend was unevenly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume dipped to 1.17 million shares from 1.18 million Friday.

U.S. government bond prices nudged higher late in the day, finishing in the plus column after a listless session. Corporates traded on the New York Stock exchange failed to break out of an uneven pattern. Volume on the Exchange rose to $4.76 million par value from $4.23 million Friday.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Save yourself trips to the store for bread by storing a fresh loaf in your freezing compartment in its original wrapper. It will maintain its original freshness and flavor there for a week or two.

Gets Bargain?

SWANLEY, England (AP)—Richard Lawrence, 12, opened his piggy bank, went to an auction and bought a 1934 model automobile for four pounds—$11.30. His problem now is that he has to wait five years for a license to drive it.

Chicago Grains

Wheat closed up 1¼ to 1⅝, corn off ⅜ to 1¼, oats unchanged to up ¼, rye up ¼ to ½ and soybeans unchanged to up 1.

Reports of snow in scattered portions of the Midwest and lack of moisture in the Southwest caused buying in most grains. Selling pressure was light in all but the corn pit.

Mills and commission houses bought wheat. Factors in the advance included talk of large pending export sales, dryness in the winter wheat belt and continued firm spot prices.

Activity in the corn pit slowed down following an early burst of elevator house sales. Prices showed little rallying power, although the return of cold weather prompted some buying.

Government corn continued to enter commercial channels, with 23,335,000 bushels sold in the week ended March 23. Reports also told of more liberal bookings on the Illinois River and at country stations.

Firmer meal futures bolstered the soybean market. Commercial interests led an early buying move, but some sold on the advance. Oil futures lagged.

Exporters sold 365,000 bushels of wheat to Yugoslavia and 375,000 bushels to India. Viewed as prospective customers were Pakistan, Turkey, Brazil, Iran, South Korea and Colombia.

Outside markets were steady to higher. The U.S. visible supply of wheat increased 1,315,000 bushels last week to total 428,362,000 bushels, Board of Trade statisticians estimated. Corn stocks decreased 624,000 to 132,893,000 oats decreased 806,000 to 15,295,000, rye decreased 59,000 to 5,794,000, barley increased 82,000 to 20,316,000 and soybeans decreased 1,075,000 to 18,569,000 bushels.

Gets Bargain?

SWANLEY, England (AP)—Richard Lawrence, 12, opened his piggy bank, went to an auction and bought a 1934 model automobile for four pounds—$11.30. His problem now is that he has to wait five years for a license to drive it.

Chicago Grains

Wheat closed up ¼ to ½, corn off ⅜ to 1⅛, oats unchanged to up ¼, rye up ¼ to ½ and soybeans unchanged to up 1.

Reports of snow in scattered portions of the Midwest and lack of moisture in the Southwest caused buying in most grains. Selling pressure was light in all but the corn pit.

Mills and commission houses bought wheat. Factors in the advance included talk of large pending export sales, dryness in the winter wheat belt and continued firm spot prices.

Activity in the corn pit slowed down following an early burst of elevator house sales. Prices showed little rallying power, although the return of cold weather prompted some buying.

Government corn continued to enter commercial channels, with 23,333,000 bushels sold in the week ended March 23. Reports also told of more liberal bookings on the Illinois River and at country stations.

Oats advanced despite the lower corn market. Unfavorable weather, which was expected to delay field work, offset the bearish influence.

Firmer meal futures bolstered the soybean market. Commercial interests led an early buying move, but some sold on the advance. Oil futures lagged.

Exporters sold 365,000 bushels of wheat to Yugoslavia and 375,000 bushels to India. Viewed as prospective customers were Pakistan, Turkey, Brazil, Iran, South Korea and Colombia.

Outside markets were steady to higher.

The U.S. visible supply of wheat increased 1,313,000 bushels last week to total 428,362,000 bushels. Board of Trade statisticians estimated. Corn stocks decreased 624,000 to 132,893,000 oats decreased 806,000 to 15,295,000, rye decreased 59,000 to 5,794,000, barley increased 82,000 to 20,316,000 and soybeans decreased 1,075,000 to 18,563,000 bushels.

Bloodmobile Gets 155 Pints During Visit

27 First-Time Donors In Total

The Red Cross Regional Bloodmobile from Johnstown, Pa. collected 155 pints of blood yesterday during its visit to Cumberland at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street.

The Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross had scheduled 114 persons for yesterday and 67 kept their appointments. There also were 95 walk-ins and seven persons were rejected.

Yesterday's donors included two persons who became members of the Four-Gallon Club. They were Herbert D. Lehr, 525 Patterson Avenue, and John E. Sharp, 730 Gephart Drive.

Four persons became members of the Three-Gallon Club yesterday. They included Ira Buser, 36 Carpenter Avenue, Ridgeley, John F. Powell, 719 Fayette Street; Mrs. Veronica Paul, 231 Henderson Avenue, and Albert A. Helmick, 312 Avenue I, Potomac Park. Two other persons, Thomas Hopwood, 126 New Hampshire Avenue, and David L. Day, RFD 3, Bedford Road, joined the Two-Gallon Club yesterday.

Some seven local and area residents became members of the One-Gallon Club. They were Rev. George S. Widmyer, Avenue M, Potomac Park; Laura Mae Tipton, Hyndman, Pa.; Donovan G. Dentinger, 125 Oak Street; Mrs. Edith V. Thompson, Fort Ashby; Charles F. Dicks, RFD 1, Cumberland; Van Parsons, 427 Cumberland Street, and James O. Dohm, Central YMCA.

The next visit of the unit to Cumberland area will be on Monday, May 7, when it will be at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant at North Branch. The following day the bloodmobile will be in Lonaconing.

Pied Piper To Appear Here

The Pied Piper, presented by the Rockefeller Players, will be seen in five different schools of Allegany County starting Wednesday with two performances in the Fort Hill High School auditorium. The six performances in three days are being sponsored by the Allegany County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

Rockefeller Players Will Offer Six Performances

The Pied Piper, with a new twist, will be presented six times in three days in Allegany County public schools starting tomorrow under auspices of the County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

On Wednesday there will be two performances in the Fort Hill High School auditorium, at 9:45 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. Thursday's schedule calls for appearances at Central Elementary School, Lonaconing, at 9:30 a. m., and at Bruce High School, Westernport, at 1:15 p. m. Finally, on Friday, performances will be staged at Beall High School, Frostburg, at 9:30 a. m. and at Mt. Savage School at 1 p. m.

This presentation by the Rockefeller Players is termed a charming new dramatization by Lucille Rockefeller and Joyce Patten. It is the heart-warming story of the Piper who visits a town plagued by thousands of rats.

The greedy Mayor and townspeople, having failed to get rid of the pests, promised to pay the Piper 10,000 gilders to try his luck. With the mission accomplished, the townspeople refuse to pay the Piper, who in anger piped a different tune, one that led all the children of the town away forever.

At least this is the way the legend ends. What really happens to the children is where the play takes on an interesting new twist and creates a delightful and entertaining theatre exprience for children.

ACCIDENT VICTIM — Mrs. Alpha A. Pleasant, 45, wife of William J. Pleasant of 210 Cromer Street, Westernport, died yesterday morning in Winchester, (Va.) Men Charged With Passing Bogus Checks

A New York man and a Maryland youth arrested Firday near Cresaptown in connection with passing a bogus check at a store in Keyser were charged yesterday in Bel Air in connection with the passing of bad checks in Harford County.

Both Maurice A. Moore, 42, of 131 East 31st Street, New York, and James L. Benjamin, 19, of Pasadena, Md., near Baltimore, were charged with forgery and uttering a forged instrument.

They were taken to Bel Air from Cumberland by Harford County Sheriff Raymond Fulkner and a deputy. Moore and Benjamin were picked up last Friday after a $95.54 bogus check was passed at the Keyser store.

Sheriff Fulkner said the men would remain in jail at Bel Air pending a hearing in Magistrate's Court later this week, probably tomorrow night.

He said his office had received six bogus checks from businesses in Harford County.

Forged checks also have been turned over to authorities in New York, Baltimore, Baltimore County, Easton, and Glen Burnie. All were in the amount of $95.54.

Kifer Fined $15 On Trailer Count

Hugh Kifer, who operates a liquor store on U. S. Route 40 in LaVale, yesterday was fined $25 in Trial Magistrate Court for erecting a trailer on his property without a permit from the LaVale Zoning Board.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt imposed the fine on Kifer and also found the LaVale man not guilty of erecting a large sign on his premises without a permit.

The warrants against Kifer were obtained by J. Arthur Shank, a field investigator for the LaVale Zoning Board, who also testified at yesterday's hearing.

Commissioners To Set Levy This Morning

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners will approve its annual levy list this morning but the only uncertainty is the total amount the county plans to spend in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The commissioners last Friday approved a $1.85 tax rate for the next fiscal year, a 25 cent drop from the $2.10 rate which prevailed last year. This third successive drop in the tax rate is available because the county has received a big boost in state revenue as a result of new taxes added last year and because a boost in the county's assessable basis to $178,000,000.

During the current fiscal year the county is operating on a $5,654,141.78 budget. Although the tax rate will be lower for 1962-63 it is expected that the total the county spends in the next fiscal year will be above the current level.

Subdivision Plan Needed, Mayor Says

Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday said, following a meeting on the White Avenue sewer project, that he will urge action on the adoption of a modern subdivision ordinance.

He said he feels city officials should ask the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission and the city's planning firm to expedite the ordinance.

Such an ordinance, he said, would require subdividers to provide all utilities, including sewers, before lots for homes are sold.

The delegation included both those who want to be on the proposed sewer line and those who have installed septic tanks.

He said officials are considering a proposal for adopting an ordinance for the White Avenue sewer line which would exempt homes already equipped with septic tanks from payment until they tap on the line.

A meeting of the association will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Monday at the Water office. During the meeting the various officers will be decided by the five members.

$104,500 Loan For Hancock Plant Approved

Will Provide Jobs For 127

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Area Redevelopment Administration announced Monday an industrial loan of $104,500 to help build a new apparel factory in Hancock, Md.

The plant will provide permanent jobs for 127 people, the ARA said. It is in the Hagerstown area which has had an unemployment rate averaging about 13 per cent, mainly because of aircraft industry layoffs at Fairchild Strators Corp.

The government money will go to the Hancock Development Corp., a non-profit local organization, for the purchase of land, machinery and equipment and the building of a new plant.

The factory is to be leased to Londontown Manufacturing Co. of Baltimore, makers of raincoats and golf jackets. The firm has assured the ARA that the expansions will not cause unemployment at the Baltimore factory.

The ARA loan, carrying 4 per cent interest and running 18 years, will supplement local investment in the project. Eight area banks are combining to lend $125,000, the development corporation is putting up $29,000, and the Baltimore firm is investing $22,914.

At Annapolis, Gov. Tawes said he was very pleased to learn of the loan. "I am confident that the establishment of this business will be a direct benefit to the economy of the area and the state," he said.

Judgments Rendered In Suits Here

LaVale Woman Gets $5,000

Judgments for the plaintiffs totaling $8,000 were rendered yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who heard three damage suits which stemmed from a three-car accident January 12, 1960, on Oldtown Road.

Mrs. Hazel H. Shinnamon of Henry Drive, LaVale, had filed a $25,000 damage suit against Thomas Lewis Jr. of Elm Street, driver of one of the cars. Judge Harris rendered a judgement of $5,000 in her favor.

Louis V. Shinnamon, her husband, who filed a damage suit including two cases totaling $20,000 was awarded $905 in the first case and $1,719.36 in the second case which includes medical expenses for his wife and damages to their car.

Harold M. Shrout, Oldtown, who filed a $1,000 suit against Lewis for damages to his car, was awarded $480 by Judge Harris.

On January 12, 1960 Mrs. Shinnamon was a passenger in a car being operated east on Oldtown Road by her husband.

The damage suits indicated that Lewis was driving in the same direction and ran into the rear of the Shinnamon car and caused it to overturn throwing Mrs. Shinnamon onto the highway causing serious injuries.

Shrout claimed that while he was driving west on the highway his car was hit by the car operated by Lewis and was demolished. The accident occurred about a mile west of Oldtown.

TB Association Directors OK Budget, Events

The board of directors of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association recently approved the program and budget for 1962-63 and said special emphasis will be placed on case finding during the coming year.

The board announced efforts to locate previously undetected cases of tuberculosis in Allegany and Garrett counties will receive priority at all levels.

It also was announced at the board meeting that a nation-wide educational campaign will be conducted during the spring of 1963 on two important symptoms of respiratory disease.

The campaign, which had previously had been endorsed by the National Council of Tuberculosis Workers Committee and the Governing Council, was approved by the National Tuberculosis Association Board of Directors at its February meeting. The campaign will include roles for the local state and national TB associations.

The board also heard a report that there were 16 reported new cases of tuberculosis in Allegany County during 1961.

Other statistics announced included 3,667 X-rays were taken by the mobile unit and 103 patients were referred by the unit for larger X-rays. Some 1,791 X-rays also were taken at the Health Department.

Some 58 patients were seen at the chest clinic last year and 14 persons were hospitalized at VA hospitals and there were two TB deaths in the county during 1961.

It also was announced at the meeting the mobile X-ray unit will be in Allegany County from July 17 to August 10 for free X-rays for the public. The exact schedule will be announced later. X-rays taken by the mobile unit show TB and all other diseases within the chest area.

Grand Jury Hears 11 Witnesses

Judge Cobey Delivers Charge

Some 11 witnesses testified yesterday before the Allegany County Circuit Court grand jury for the April term of court after the charge was delivered by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey.

The session was called to order by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris with Clerk of Court Joseph A. E. Boden administering the oath to Walter N. Hedrick, jury foreman.

Moses Sylvester Bennett, 43, of 300 Willowbrook Road, was shot to death in the kitchen of his home. His wife, Mrs. Garnette Mae Bennett, 39, was charged with murder.

In his charge, Judge Cobey told the jurors they have a duty to see that parties against whom there is a just charge shall be held to answer the charge, and that their duty also is to see that citizens are not subjected to prosecution upon accusations "having no better foundation than public clamor or private malice."

Reviewing the historical background of the Grand Jury system, Judge Cobey told the jury that many states in this country, particularly in the west, have abolished the grand jury.

"You are members of an old and respected institution, which was originally chosen to inquire into the peace and good order of the community," the jurist pointed out.

"To you," he continued, "is committed the preservation of the peace of the county," although he warned the jury to bear in mind that it is not their function to determine whether a person is guilty or innocent of the crime with which he is charged.

The jury was warned it must use discretion in the use of its power and authority, which should not be used to settle private grievances, nor to subject any person to unfounded accusations.

Commenting that "we have a law abiding county and our crime rate is lower than that found in the state as a whole," Judge Cobey said he wished to emphasize that the moral tone of the community is set to a great measure by the grand jury.

Thanking the members for their interest in accepting the responsibility of service on the jury, Judge Cobey said the court realized the service constituted an interruption in their daily lives. The jurist pointed out that only five persons had asked to be excused, and that all had valid reasons.

Hedrick was named foreman after Edward Habeeb, originally named to head the group, was excused. Other new members of the jury are Harry Nelson, Vivien B. McKenzie, Mabel R. Bible and Esther Carter. There are 13 women on the 23-member panel.

Federal Planning Grant Of $70,510 Is County Goal

If Allegany County's application for federal funds to assist in its planning program is approved, the county will have a total of $94,210 in a two-year period starting July 1 and nearly 75 per cent of the money will come from federal sources.

C. Lee Renaud, county planning director, offered the following breakdown on the source of the anticipated $94,210. Federal money will account for 74.8 per cent or $70,510, state funds will amount to $2,500 or 2.7 per cent and the county will provide the other $21,200 or 22.5 per cent.

The county's application will get the formal approval of the State Planning Commission in Annapolis before it is submitted to the Housing and Home Finance Agency's area office in Philadelphia for final action.

Demo Rivals Conduct Soft Shoe Campaign

Eastern Shore Areas Visited

By The Associated Press

Gov. Tawes and rival George P. Mahoney played the soft shoe routine in Eastern Shore counties Monday in their campaigns to line up votes for the Democratic primary May 15.

Both spent the day, the governor in Worcester and Mahoney in Dorchester, concentrating on meeting local politicians already on their side.

Issuing from the Tawes mimeograph machine was a statement in the name of a labor leader questioning Mahoney's use of out of state firms to prepare some of his campaign advertising material.

"A man who professes to have the interests of organized labor in Maryland at heart is hardly demonstrating this interest by hiring out-of-state firms," claimed the statement.

It was under the name of Edward W. Dougherty, business agent for a Baltimore local of the Industrial Uion of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America.

State leaders of the AFL-CIO have endorsed Mahoney.

"There is no such thing as a union advertising agency or a union television production company," replied the Mahoney spokesman.

"But in every instance, only union labor is involved in the work being done for these companies."

Mahoney skipped public appearances in Cambridge, the county seat of Dorchester. Instead he met with Emerson Harrington, local leader supporting his candidacy, and then set out for visits elsewhere in the county.

The Tawes caravan was greeted by about 200 persons at the Worcester County court house in Snow Hill. The statewide candidates then lunched with local office seekers.

Among the guests were the county commissioners and the Democratic central committee which have endorsed Tawes. O. Sheldon Chandler, the committee chairman, assured Tawes and his running mates they will win Worcester's four unit votes in the primary.

State Del. W. Dale Hess, D-Harford, had asked Mahoney to explain how he and six other contractors received almost equal amounts of work.

Pied Piper To Appear Here

The Pied Piper, presented by the Rockefeller Players, will be seen in five different schools of Allegany County starting Wednesday with two performances in the Fort Hill High School auditorium. The six performances in three days are being sponsored by the Allegany County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

Rockefeller Players Will Offer Six Performances

The Pied Piper, with a new twist, will be presented six times in three days in Allegany County public schools starting tomorrow under auspices of the County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

On Wednesday there will be two performances in the Fort Hill High School auditorium, at 9:45 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. Thursday's schedule calls for appearances at Central Elementary School, Lonaconing, at 9:30 a. m., and at Bruce High School, Westernport, at 1:15 p. m. Finally, on Friday, performances will be staged at Beall High School, Frostburg, at 9:30 a. m. and at Mt. Savage School at 1 p. m.

This presentation by the Rockefeller Players is termed a charming new dramatization by Lucille Rockefeller and Joyce Patten. It is the heart-warming story of the Piper who visits a town plagued by thousands of rats.

The greedy Mayor and townspeople, having failed to get rid of the pests, promised to pay the Piper 10,000 gilders to try his luck. With the mission accomplished, the townspeople refuse to pay the Piper, who in anger piped a different tune, one that led all the children of the town away forever.

At least this is the way the legend ends. What really happens to the children is where the play takes on an interesting new twist and creates a delightful and entertaining theatre exprience for children.

Men Charged With Passing Bogus Checks

A New York man and a Maryland youth arrested Firday near Cresaptown in connection with passing a bogus check at a store in Keyser were charged yesterday in Bel Air in connection with the passing of bad checks in Harford County.

Both Maurice A. Moore, 42, of 131 East 31st Street, New York, and James L. Benjamin, 19, of Pasadena, Md., near Baltimore, were charged with forgery and uttering a forged instrument.

They were taken to Bel Air from Cumberland by Harford County Sheriff Raymond Fulkner and a deputy. Moore and Benjamin were picked up last Friday after a $95.54 bogus check was passed at the Keyser store.

Sheriff Fulkner said the men would remain in jail at Bel Air pending a hearing in Magistrate's Court later this week, probably tomorrow night.

He said his office had received six bogus checks from businesses in Harford County.

Forged checks also have been turned over to authorities in New York, Baltimore, Baltimore County, Easton, and Glen Burnie. All were in the amount of $95.54.

Commissioners To Set Levy This Morning

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners will approve its annual levy list this morning but the only uncertainty is the total amount the county plans to spend in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The commissioners last Friday approved a $1.85 tax rate for the next fiscal year, a 25 cent drop from the $2.10 rate which prevailed last year. This third successive drop in the tax rate is available because the county has received a big boost in state revenue as a result of new taxes added last year and because a boost in the county's assessable basis to $178,000,000.

During the current fiscal year the county is operating on a $5,654,141.78 budget. Although the tax rate will be lower for 1962-63 it is expected that the total the county spends in the next fiscal year will be above the current level.

Subdivision Plan Needed, Mayor Says

Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday said, following a meeting on the White Avenue sewer project, that he will urge action on the adoption of a modern subdivision ordinance.

He said he feels city officials should ask the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission and the city's planning firm to expedite the ordinance.

Such an ordinance, he said, would require subdividers to provide all utilities, including sewers, before lots for homes are sold.

The delegation included both those who want to be on the proposed sewer line and those who have installed septic tanks.

Mayor Keech said city officials plan further discussion on the subject.

He said officials are considering a proposal for adopting an ordinance for the White Avenue sewer line which would exempt homes already equipped with septic tanks from payment until they tap on the line.

$104,500 Loan For Hancock Plant Approved

Will Provide Jobs For 127

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Area Redevelopment Administration announced Monday an industrial loan of $104,500 to help build a new apparel factory in Hancock, Md.

The plant will provide permanent jobs for 127 people, the ARA said. It is in the Hagerstown area which has had an unemployment rate averaging about 13 per cent, mainly because of aircraft industry layoffs at Fairchild Strators Corp.

The government money will go to the Hancock Development Corp., a non-profit local organization, for the purchase of land, machinery and equipment and the building of a new plant.

The factory is to be leased to Londontown Manufacturing Co. of Baltimore, makers of raincoats and golf jackets. The firm has assured the ARA that the expansions will not cause unemployment at the Baltimore factory.

The ARA loan, carrying 4 per cent interest and running 18 years, will supplement local investment in the project. Eight area banks are combining to lend $125,000, the development corporation is putting up $29,000, and the Baltimore firm is investing $22,914.

At Annapolis, Gov. Tawes said he was very pleased to learn of the loan. "I am confident that the establishment of this business will be a direct benefit to the economy of the area and the state," he said.

Judgments Rendered In Suits Here

LaVale Woman Gets $5,000

Judgments for the plaintiffs totaling $8,000 were rendered yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who heard three damage suits which stemmed from a three-car accident January 12, 1960, on Oldtown Road.

Mrs. Hazel H. Shinnamon of Henry Drive, LaVale, had filed a $25,000 damage suit against Thomas Lewis Jr. of Elm Street, driver of one of the cars. Judge Harris rendered a judgement of $5,000 in her favor.

Louis V. Shinnamon, her husband, who filed a damage suit including two cases totaling $20,000 was awarded $905 in the first case and $1,719.36 in the second case which includes medical expenses for his wife and damages to their car.

Harold M. Shrout, Oldtown, who filed a $1,000 suit against Lewis for damages to his car, was awarded $480 by Judge Harris.

On January 12, 1960 Mrs. Shinnamon was a passenger in a car being operated east on Oldtown Road by her husband.

The damage suits indicated that Lewis was driving in the same direction and ran into the rear of the Shinnamon car and caused it to overturn throwing Mrs. Shinnamon onto the highway causing serious injuries.

Shrout claimed that while he was driving west on the highway his car was hit by the car operated by Lewis and was demolished. The accident occurred about a mile west of Oldtown.

TB Association Directors OK Budget, Events

The board of directors of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association recently approved the program and budget for 1962-63 and said special emphasis will be placed on case finding during the coming year.

The board announced efforts to locate previously undetected cases of tuberculosis in Allegany and Garrett counties will receive priority at all levels.

It also was announced at the board meeting that a nation-wide educational campaign will be conducted during the spring of 1963 on two important symptoms of respiratory disease.

The campaign, which had previously had been endorsed by the National Council of Tuberculosis Workers Committee and the Governing Council, was approved by the National Tuberculosis Association Board of Directors at its February meeting. The campaign will include roles for the local state and national TB associations.

Grand Jury Hears 11 Witnesses

Judge Cobey Delivers Charge

Some 11 witnesses testified yesterday before the Allegany County Circuit Court grand jury for the April term of court after the charge was delivered by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey.

The session was called to order by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris with Clerk of Court Joseph A. E. Boden administering the oath to Walter N. Hedrick, jury foreman.

The most serious case to be considered by the jurors is the fatal shooting of a local man on January 31.

Moses Sylvester Bennett, 43, of 300 Willowbrook Road, was shot to death in the kitchen of his home. His wife, Mrs. Garnette Mae Bennett, 39, was charged with murder.

In his charge, Judge Cobey told the jurors they have a duty to see that parties against whom there is a just charge shall be held to answer the charge, and that their duty also is to see that citizens are not subjected to prosecution upon accusations "having no better foundation than public clamor or private malice."

Reviewing the historical background of the Grand Jury system, Judge Cobey told the jury that many states in this country, particularly in the west, have abolished the grand jury.

"You are members of an old and respected institution, which was originally chosen to inquire into the peace and good order of the community," the jurist pointed out.

"To you," he continued, "is committed the preservation of the peace of the county," although he warned the jury to bear in mind that it is not their function to determine whether a person is guilty or innocent of the crime with which he is charged.

The jury was warned it must use discretion in the use of its power and authority, which should not be used to settle private grievances, nor to subject any person to unfounded accusations.

Commenting that "we have a law abiding county and our crime rate is lower than that found in the state as a whole," Judge Cobey said he wished to emphasize that the moral tone of the community is set to a great measure by the grand jury.

Thanking the members for their interest in accepting the responsibility of service on the jury, Judge Cobey said the court realized the service constituted an interruption in their daily lives. The jurist pointed out that only five persons had asked to be excused, and that all had valid reasons.

Hedrick was named foreman after Edward Habeeb, originally named to head the group, was excused. Other new members of the jury are Harry Nelson, Vivien B. McKenzie, Mabel R. Bible and Esther Carter. There are 13 women on the 23-member panel.

If Allegany County's application for federal funds to assist in its planning program is approved, the county will have a total of $94,210 in a two-year period starting July 1 and nearly 75 per cent of the money will come from federal sources.

C. Lee Renaud, county planning director, offered the following breakdown on the source of the anticipated $94,210. Federal money will account for 74.8 per cent or $70,510, state funds will amount to $2,500 or 2.7 per cent and the county will provide the other $21,200 or 22.5 per cent.

The county's application will get the formal approval of the State Planning Commission in Annapolis before it is submitted to the Housing and Home Finance Agency's area office in Philadelphia for final action.

Demo Rivals Conduct Soft Shoe Campaign

Eastern Shore Areas Visited

By The Associated Press

Gov. Tawes and rival George P. Mahoney played the soft shoe routine in Eastern Shore counties Monday in their campaigns to line up votes for the Democratic primary May 15.

Both spent the day, the governor in Worcester and Mahoney in Dorchester, concentrating on meeting local politicians already on their side.

Issuing from the Tawes mimeograph machine was a statement in the name of a labor leader questioning Mahoney's use of out of state firms to prepare some of his campaign advertising material.

"A man who professes to have the interests of organized labor in Maryland at heart is hardly demonstrating this interest by hiring out-of-state firms," claimed the statement.

It was under the name of Edward W. Dougherty, business agent for a Baltimore local of the Industrial Uion of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America.

State leaders of the AFL-CIO have endorsed Mahoney.

Mahoney headquarters acknowledged Dougherty's statement that New York firms are handling Mahoney's advertising and television.

"There is no such thing as a union advertising agency or a union television production company," replied the Mahoney spokesman.

"But in every instance, only union labor is involved in the work being done for these companies."

Mahoney skipped public appearances in Cambridge, the county seat of Dorchester. Instead he met with Emerson Harrington, local leader supporting his candidacy, and then set out for visits elsewhere in the county.

The Tawes caravan was greeted by about 200 persons at the Worcester County court house in Snow Hill. The statewide candidates then lunched with local office seekers.

Among the guests were the county commissioners and the Democratic central committee which have endorsed Tawes. O. Sheldon Chandler, the committee chairman, assured Tawes and his running mates they will win Worcester's four unit votes in the primary.

In addition to pointing the finger at Mahoney's use of out of state advertising firms, the Tawes headquarters continued to prod him on his paving contracts with Baltimore City.

State Del. W. Dale Hess, D-Harford, had asked Mahoney to explain how he and six other contractors received almost equal amounts of work.

He said the pumper underwent similar tests before it left the factory at Elmira, N. Y., last week, but must be put through final performance tests before it can be accepted by the city.
